Twenty-Five Are Reported Dead In Storms In Nation

Midwest And South Report Toll As Result Of Variety Of Storms

MILWAUKEE IS BLIZZARD CENTER

A new cold wave moved into the middle west today in the wake of storms across the nation which caused the death of a least 25 persons and injured hundreds of others.

Property damage was estimated at thousands of dollars.

Today's sub-freezing temperatures were expected to turn slush into masses of ice, adding new hazards to already seriously hampered rail and highway travel.

Tornadoes Kill 14

Tornadoes ripped communities in three southern states yesterday, after striking earlier in Missouri and Arkansas. An estimated 14 persons were killed by the tornadoes and at least 60 were injured.

Miss and store buildings were flattened and some were destroyed by fires caused by the storms.

Power lines were torn down in

PA NEW OBSERVES

Thursday's rain brought a noticeable rise in both the Shenango river and Neshaunk creek.

Unless a new inspection sticker appears on the car and a new driver's license appears in the pocket of motorists in the state after midnight, tonight the operators of the vehicles are liable to fines. At that time, the new period begins and the 1947 drivers' cards are effective. New license plates are not due until April 1.

Checking over the returned milk bottles from his customers, a local dairyman reported to Pa. New that he discovered in the lot a milk bottle of perhaps 30 years ago that was returned to him. The bottle was made of amber glass instead of the conventional clear glass used today. The name of the company was clearly imbedded in the glass. Evidently someone had been cleaning out some dark cellar or attic and found the bottle.

Local weather prophets are wondering what prediction that local groundhogs will make Sunday as to the weather for the next six weeks. With such unusual weather as we have been enjoying the past few weeks, perhaps anybody's guess would be good. Groundhog day falls on Sunday this year.

Local lassies with the tootsies shoes were having extremely difficult times on Thursday attempting to ford the streams of water that were rushing along the curbsides. In many instances the streams were at least three feet wide.

Apparently preliminary work is being done for opening of Sheridan avenue between North Mercer street and Wilmington avenue.

One of the county highways that is badly in need of widening and resurfacing is the Wilmington route from Walpole to the college town. It was the first concrete road constructed in the county.

Yesterday's spring-like weather was short-lived. Pa. New noted with a shiver today. From a high point of 61, which was unusually high for that date, topping a many-year record, the temperature was down to 32 degrees this morning and according to weather predictions would be down handy the zero point Saturday morning. The sudden cold snap put an end to rising streams which are at one of their highest marks of the past year today due to the rain of the past few days.

Daily Weather Report

United States weather statistics for the 24-hour period ending at 9 a. m. today follow:
Maximum temperature, 61.
Minimum temperature, 32.
Precipitation, .89 inches, rain and traces of snow.
River stage, 114 feet.
Statistics for the same date a year ago follow:
Maximum temperature, 45.
Minimum temperature, 38.
Precipitation, .02 inches.

House Republicans Appear In Favor Of Graduated Tax Cut

By ARTHUR F. HERMANN

(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31.—House Republicans apparently were committed today to a graduated personal income tax reduction program after Speaker Martin disavowed proposed "across-the-board" reductions previously endorsed by the GOP leadership.

Martin announced that Republicans still were committed to an "over all" 20 per cent tax cut, as well as a balanced budget and payments on the national debt.

But he said that the 20 per cent cut for each taxpayer, regardless of earnings, was "not a party commitment."

Democrat Opposes Cut

In the senate, meanwhile, Sen. George (D) Ga., ranking minority member of the senate finance com-

Three Are Given Lie-Detector Test In Woman's Death

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Jan. 31.—(INS)—Three persons given lie-detector tests by Charleston police in connection with the death of 28-year-old Elizabeth Sattler, were free today after tests cleared them of blame, authorities reported.

Police said the death apparently was "accidental" following detector tests on the three persons who were the last to see the daughter of West Virginia State Labor Commissioner Charles Sattler. Police believed the woman was a hit-run accident victim.

Miss Sattler was found dying on a street corner near her home early yesterday with the lower part of her body crushed.

MacArthur Halts General Strike Plans In Japan

TOKYO, Jan. 31.—(INS)—General MacArthur called an official halt today to plans for a general strike by two and one-half million Japanese government leaders.

Strike leaders were at first determined to defy the allied supreme commander, but later capitulated and cancelled the mass walkout.

The strike had been called for midnight tonight as a protest against the Yoshida government.

Strike Committee Chairman Yoshida II was summoned to allied occupation headquarters to receive directly the word that MacArthur would not permit the strike.

The strike committee had quibbled over whether MacArthur's statement to newsmen announcing the ban constituted an "official" directive. After their leader was summoned by MacArthur, however, the strike committee cancelled the walkout.

Senator Bridges Calls For Firmer Policy On Russia

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31.—(INS)—Sen. Bridges (R) N. H. called today for a stiffening of America's back against Soviet Russia to combat what he termed "an anti-American drive sparked by Moscow."

The senate appropriations chairman charged that the five pending treaties merely have "confirmed" Russian domination in Europe while the USSR in China has "broken its promises" and treats that country like a "conquered nation."

Bridges' statement followed by two days the blistering speech of Sen. Vandenberg (R) Mich., foreign relations chairman, denouncing the "rigged" elections in Poland.

LADY FLAT-FEET

PITTSBURGH, Jan. 31.—(INS)—Pittsburgh's 100 new lady flat-heel shoes will literally be that, following an announcement by Assistant Superintendent of Police Andrew Charles.

Charles issued orders that the ladies-to-be assigned to school crossings throughout the city—will have to wear low-heel shoes. Charles said spike-heel shoes were a "menace" and flat shoes would prevent turned ankles—for which the city is liable.

Seek To Settle Long Dispute Over Greenland

By NED NORDNESS

(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

COPENHAGEN, Jan. 31.—The Danish government has invited Norway to a secret conference to settle permanently a long-standing sovereignty dispute over Greenland, the huge sub-Arctic island wasteland.

An amicable settlement of the dispute would prepare the way for Denmark to either (1) grant or deny America the military bases on Greenland, or (2) sell the Arctic island outright to the United States.

The Danish government already has informed Norway that it cannot enter into negotiations with America until the sovereignty dispute between the two Scandinavian countries is settled.

On the other hand, Denmark has informed Norway that the American government is insistent in its demands that negotiations for permanent military bases be started as soon as possible.

Ross also quoted John R. Steelman, assistant to the President, as declaring that reports that he had originated the proposal to increase rents were "untrue and absurd."

New Violence In 'Beer War'

Two Establishments In Pittsburgh Are Reported As Being Bombed

PITTSBURGH, Jan. 31.—(INS)—Two beer distributing establishments were bombed today in a renewal of violence in the 117-day-old Pittsburgh beer war.

Fronts were blown out of the establishments, doors ripped from their hinges and more than 80 windows smashed in the explosions of what police said were dynamite bombs.

The "war" is the outgrowth of efforts of the AFL-Teamsters Union to regain control of brewery workers. The latter now are affiliated with the CIO-United Brewery Workers.

Total Of 13
The bombings this morning brought to a total of 13 such acts of violence in the beer war. Five dynamite bombs and eight fire bombs have damaged beer distributing stores. In addition, windows have been smashed in a number of taverns serving Pittsburgh-brewed beer, which the AFL has labeled "unfair."

This morning the front was blown out of the establishment of Russell A. Golomb in Pittsburgh's Squirrel Hill district. A garage and furniture store also were damaged.

The place of Ben Golomb, his father, was damaged by a fire bomb November 17.

In suburban Lincoln place this morning, Joseph J. Greig's store had the front blown out and was badly damaged.

Says New Castle Can Be 'Safe City'

Capt. Joseph McCann Of State Police Speaks At Traffic Safety Meeting Here

For the second time within a year Captain Joseph McCann of the Pennsylvania state police spoke on "Highway Safety" Thursday night and for the second time New Castle people who gathered in The Castleton hotel heard a hard hitting address that had little in the way of oratorical pleasantries but was jam-packed with logic and common sense.

"New Castle can be made a safe city, just as any other city can be made safe and it's a simple thing to do," said he. "If any city ever gets a set of public officials that will refuse to 'fix' traffic tags, then that city will have gone a long way towards teaching safety to its people."

Hearing In Portal Suit Is Resumed

DETROIT, Jan. 31.—(INS)—Federal Judge Frank A. Picard resumes hearing today on the Mt. Clemens Pottery Co. portal pay suit, basis for five billion dollars in back pay claims by CIO unions.

Judge Picard declared they will "arrive at an equitable settlement of this case if it means taking testimony for a month—including Saturdays."

It was on the opinion of Judge Picard in the Mt. Clemens case that the U. S. Supreme Court last June laid down its historic decision that employers are liable for time spent by workers from the moment they entered company property.

Must Decide
Judge Picard must decide if the time spent by the pottery workers in preparing for work, after reaching company property, involves the principle of portal pay.

At stake are approximately five billion dollars.

Safe Crackers At Greensburg

PITTSBURGH, Jan. 31.—(INS)—Safe-crackers, working swiftly, struck at three places in the Greensburg district today and obtained at least $4,000 in cash.

At least $3,000 was obtained from the safe of the Modern Cleaning and Laundry Co., Jeannette, and another $1,000 was taken from a safe of the Lee Thompson and Fawcett Co., Penn. officials of the two concerns reported to sheriff's officers.

In both robberies, plant watchmen were bound with ropes by one of the burglars while another intimidated them with a gun.

The Jersey Cereal Division plant of the General Foods Corporation near Irwin also was entered. The combination was knocked off the safe, but whether it was opened could not be determined until a safe expert inspected it today.

Doors of the safe were closed this morning.

HANS FRITZSCHE IS SENTENCED

Marshall May Seek Complete Restatement Of Potsdam Agreement

By JOHN A. REICHMANN

(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31.—Secretary of State George C. Marshall today was reported planning to ask a complete restatement of the Potsdam agreement when he attends the "big four" foreign ministers meeting in Moscow next March.

Marshall was said to be supported by President Truman and other high officials who are dissatisfied with Russian compliance with commitments made at that conference after the end of the European war.

Points Of Dissatisfaction

The major points of dissatisfaction were said to be:

1. Inability to obtain an arrangement whereby Germany would be treated as an economic whole. After 16 months the country is separated into tight compartments and Russia and France have refused to break down the zonal barriers.

2. Reviving U. S.-Soviet talks on Korea. These talks broke down several months ago when the Russians withdrew. The United States maintains that pledges to give Korea its political and economic independence should be kept.

3. The recent Polish elections which the Soviet-dominated government bloc won overwhelmingly. The United States and Britain claim that the pre-election campaign and the election itself were dominated by force and violated big three agreements that the country should be allowed to choose its own government in free and unfettered elections.

Install Pastor At Third Church

Dr. J. Paul Graham Formally Installed At Third U. P. Church Thursday Night

A large assemblage of members and friends of the Third U. P. church, East Washington at Adams street, gathered in the church on Thursday evening to witness and participate in the impressive installation services that were conducted for the new pastor, Dr. J. Paul Graham, who began his ministry there Sunday, December 15.

Dr. W. E. Minter of Ellwood City presided over the evening service and pronounced the constitution.

Dr. D. L. Ferguson, pastor of Highland U. P. church was introduced and gave the installation sermon. Dr. Ferguson very aptly stated the reaction of the people of the Gospel of Christ back in the days of the Apostle Paul.

Rev. J. Calvin Rose, pastor of Second U. P. church, fittingly charged the congregation speaking on the reaction of the congregation to a new minister and what they should do in their loyal support of him.

The final address of the evening was by the new pastor, Dr. J. Paul Graham.

Study One Cent Gas Tax Increase

HARRISBURG, Jan. 31.—(INS)—A three-member committee of the League of Third Class Cities today studied a proposed additional cent a gallon state gasoline tax for distribution to municipalities.

Included in the committee scrutinizing the proposal for possible introduction at the General Assembly was Mayor John J. Mullon, of Clairton, Mayor Arthur L. Schwing of Johnstown, and Howard E. Kennedy, Wilkes-Barre city solicitor.

Fifty-seven delegates from 27 cities attended a meeting at the state capitol, yesterday and heard Gov. James H. Duff endorse legislation to permit municipalities to tax items not levied on by the state.

Delegates approved a resolution recommending that one cent of the two-cent state tax on cigarettes be returned to the municipalities.

Palestine Move Causes Sensation In Great Britain

London Has Sensation Unparalleled Since War Days With Announcement

EVACUATION MOVE CAUSES FURORE (BULLETIN)

JERUSALEM, Jan. 31.—(INS)—All women and children of 2,000 British families along with other "non-essential" civilians were ordered out of Palestine today in a move indicating Great Britain intends to dig in for a bitter siege in the Holy Land.

In a move that Winston Churchill in London decried as "the road to abject defeat and shame," British High Commissioner Sir Alan Cunningham announced the evacuation must be completed by next Tuesday aboard ships provided by the admiralty.

At present, the order affects only British citizens.

LONDON, Jan. 31.—(INS)—A sensation unparalleled since war days was created in London today with announcement that Great Britain has ordered evacuation of women and children, along with other "non-essential persons" from Palestine.

Winston Churchill branded the move as "the road to abject defeat and shame" and called upon the United States to share Britain's burdens in the Holy Land, under auspices of the United Nations.

Sensational Headlines

With all British women and children ordered out of the Holy Land by Tuesday next aboard ships dispatched by the admiralty for this express purpose, London was deluged with sensational headlines.

There were official announcements of all the drastic measures taken, and there was debate in the house of commons.

Col. Oliver Stanley warned that Britain must handle the situation with a firm hand or see Palestine turned into a "bloody hell for Briton, Jew and Arab alike."

Churchill followed his conservative team-mate with a bitter criticism of Prime Minister Clementine Churchill's government for its action in granting reprieves to Jewish extremists whose conviction had resulted in anti-British measure that included kidnapping of two prominent residents.

Churchill said: "This is the road to abject defeat and shame."

"We have broken our pledges to the Jews."

Warn Drivers; No Extensions

Operator's licenses and inspection stickers will expire to midnight tonight, according to the Department of Revenue at Harrisburg, which emphasized that no extension of the inspection period would be granted and warned motorists that they faced $10 fines and possible five-day jail terms for operating cars without stickers.

State police, located here, said that they had received no information that any extension of the inspection period or expiration of operator's license would be granted.

The Department of Revenue reported that 2,697,840 operator's licenses had been issued through January 29, and predicted the number would reach 2,750,000 by February 1.

Four Thugs Hunted In Attack-Robbery Of Mrs. Max Hill

Blonde Wife Of Radio Commentator
Abducted, Attacked, Robbed, Husband Punched

SYOSSET, N. Y., Jan. 31.—(INS)—A 13-state alarm was issued today for the arrest of four thugs accused of attacking and robbing Mrs. Phoebe Hill, 26, attractive blonde wife of Max Hill, radio news commentator.

Mrs. Hill, a dancer, was given emergency treatment at Meadowbrook hospital and then returned home to New York with her husband.

She told police that the four men had kidnapped her as she and her husband were leaving a tavern Thursday morning. She said her husband rushed to her aid but was knocked down and punched.

Mrs. Hill said the men drove to a lonely road outside Syosset and attacked her, also taking all her jewelry. She escaped from the men later and a motorist took her to the Syosset police station, after which she was removed to the hospital.

Police said Hill failed to report the abduction. It was determined that the automobile in which Mrs. Hill had been held was a stolen car. Mrs. Hill gave a good description of three of the four men involved, police said, and an immediate alarm was broadcast for their arrest.

British Bolster Jerusalem Guard

JERUSALEM, Jan. 31.—(INS)—British military authorities, guarding against possible future kidnappings of military personnel, increased their security measures in Jerusalem today.

Army clubs were ordered closed, as were canteens throughout the city.

Members of the A.T.S.—British counterpart of the American WAC—were confined to their barracks.

Previously, security measures had included requirement that troops walk in groups of fours, and ruled movies, cafes and "other places of entertainment" out of bounds following the kidnapping and beating last month of four British troops.

juries on the highways goes on for five years in the United States, the toll of the second war will be small compared to it. Yet there is little actually being done for genuine safety.

"We speak of engineering, enforcement and education in connection with safety upon the highways. The engineering on the super-highway is said to be the most perfect highway engineering in the world, yet the accident toll on that unusual highway has been amazingly high. The highway is so fine it lulls people into false security. They speed at horrifying rates and I have checked cars over the super-highway that made the 100 miles in 115 minutes. Is that safe?"

Captain McCann urged stricter enforcement of safety measures, education of school children in automobile driving and safety, and the re-examination of all drivers at stated periods.

H. L. Gormley, Chairman Harry L. Gormley was the general chairman of the meeting which was sponsored by the Lawrence County chapter, Pennsylvania Motor Truck Association, the Greater New Castle Association, the New Castle Motor club and the mayor's traffic study committee.

Mr. Gormley was introduced by J. Fred Clarke, president of the local chapter of PMTA. J. C. Wachtman, executive vice president of the Greater New Castle Association spoke on local parking and traffic conditions and said the failure to remedy the congestion locally was costing merchants money every year.

Mrs. Ted Castelle of the American Red Cross spoke briefly on the relationship of first aid to safety. Gene Schweinsberg, commander of the Perry S. Gaston Post, American Legion, told of an outdoor advertising campaign for safety that was to be held this summer and Arthur Carpenter, a professional driver, gave the side of the driver in the quest for safety on the highways.

Samuel A. Mooney, chairman of the mayor's traffic study committee, gave the management side of the safety problem. Paul W. Keely, a national vice president of the American Trucking Association was introduced as was Alec Samuels, president of the New Castle Motor club.

It was an interesting meeting with Captain McCann's address highlighting a group of interesting talks.

many communities and in some the residents were compelled to use candles and lanterns for illumination.

The hardest hit city in the middle west was Milwaukee, Wis., where traffic was paralyzed by 17 inches of drifting snow. Four deaths there were ascribed to the storm and two other persons lost their lives elsewhere in Wisconsin.

Milwaukee officials said the blizzard was the most destructive in the city's history. Schools were closed and the industrial life of the city was all but throttled.

Huge drifts virtually cut off the city of more than 500,000 population from outside transportation.

An early death toll of eight from tornadoes was increased when the destructive winds whipped across two counties in western Tennessee and also struck communities in Alabama and Georgia.

Two were dead and 14 injured in the Tallapoosa area of Alabama. Thirty-seven houses were wrecked.

Deaths In Alabama

In Evergreen, Ala., three were dead and 25 injured. Most of the town was flattened and searchers were still seeking victims.

At Montgomery, Ala., the Red Cross reported 11 seriously hurt, 20 houses destroyed and power lines down.

In Macon, Ga., the tornado wrecked the main hangar of the Herbert Stuert airport, seven houses and a tourist camp.

In Crockett County, Tenn., one person was dead and an undisclosed number injured.

CONGRESS IS PROBING RENT CONTROL MYSTERY

rent increases with Steelman "10 percent or two weeks ago" and had been assured that the matter would be "considered."

Englar added that "the people I talked to in high places were convinced that an increase is due."

Chairman Tobey asked:

"After you were through with your conversation with Mr. Steelman were you convinced that the administration was going to take action immediately?"

Englar replied:

"He smiled and said he would consider it."

Deny Authority For Measure

At the White House, Ross said he had discussed the matter with Steelman. He added:

"Mr. Steelman said that any statement that he had originated the proposal to increase rents, only to be vetoed by the President, was untrue and absurd. He had absolutely nothing whatsoever to do with it."

Ross insisted that the rent increase plan did not originate in the White House. He pointed out that as soon as the President heard reports that such an order was to be issued he acted to block such a move.

Will Continue

Tobey announced that attempts of his committee to solve the mystery will continue this afternoon when Gen. Philip Fleming, chief of the Office of Temporary Controls, and his top assistant, James Pollin, will be called as witnesses.

The OTC chief attended a cabinet meeting at the White House today and afterward said he would "tell everything that happened" on the rent order when he testifies this afternoon before the banking committee. He said the cabinet did not discuss the rent situation.

Fleming returned to Washington today from Burlington, Iowa, where he was called by the death of his mother.

Ross said Mr. Truman was "fully aware" of the origin of the order.

Tobey, as the banking committee's rent hearing resumed, declared:

"It is inconceivable to me that the OTC would have gone as far as it did without a green light from someone in authority."

Meantime, the board of trustees of the National Home and Property Owners Foundation adopted a resolution urging Congress to "terminate immediately all forms of rent control."

The resolution declared recent control failed to hold the line against inflation and, if continued, would lead eventually "to the nationalization of the entire housing industry."

the famous seer, who always does his forecasting on his own. He never, never, never, like the pretender, has had to seek outside help."

The Punxsy club indicated that alleged "secret agents" from Quarryville attempted to woo their woodchuck from his traditional den on Canoe Ridge. The money forces appeared to be reared before they could lure the infallible Punxsy predictor from his burrow for an advance "consultation."

Sizzling Verbal Battle

The sizzling verbal battle of claims and counter-claims to the infallibility of the groundhog's forecast presaged the annual celebration of Groundhog Day.

According to custom, each Candlemas Day, February 2, the woodchuck comes from his den to see if he casts a shadow.

If his shadow can be seen, there will be six more weeks of winter. If not, spring is on the way.

On Sunday the Punxsutawney and Quarryville lodges will turn out to observe the antics of their respective groundhogs as they emerge from their balivistics. Each lodge's observance is different, however.

The Punxsy followers go to their shrine early in the morning, dressed in beaver hats, wing collars, morning coats, striped pants and patent leather shoes.

Quarryville's lodge greets its farsighted forecaster in long, white flowing robes with high silk hats and carrying staves and canes.

Following the individual predictions, both clubs hold sumptuous feasts and mull over the groundhog's sage sayings.

Part of the Punxsutawney feast is the woodchuck himself.

This brings a charge of "cannibalism" from the Quarryville lodge. But, the Punxsy club has a ready retort, pointing out that their rivals couldn't eat their seer "anyway because it's just an old half-breed polecat."

mittee, turned thumbs down on either an "across the board" reduction or an alternative increase in personal tax exemptions.

George said that if any income tax cuts are possible this year he favored a graduated reduction in rates, giving persons in the lower brackets the biggest benefit.

Concerning proposals for increased exemptions advanced by some of his Democratic colleagues, George said:

"Increasing exemptions is the easy way out—it's the political way—but I think it's wrong. I think exemptions are too low but I don't want to see an increase at this time which would reduce the 'ax base.'"

Keeping Matter Open

Senate Republicans were not affected by the changed GOP goal. Sen. Taft (R) Ohio, has expressed his approval of a 20 per cent overall cut in individual taxes. Sen. Milliken (R) Colo., chairman of the senate finance committee, has stated that he is keeping the "whole matter open" until the bill comes before his committee for action.

Shortly after last November's elections, Martin, as chairman of the house Republican steering committee, announced the GOP legislative program for the 80th congress which included the statement that:

"The committee was a unit in the view that there can be a 20 per cent reduction across the board in personal income taxes."

His present position, however, is that the form the reduction will take will "have to come later."

Martin's announced shift in GOP strategy was made at the conclusion of a meeting with Majority Leader Halleck (R) Ind., and Republican members of the tax writing house ways and means committee.

Tons Of Snow Piled Up

A stormy night, the worst in 50 years, left tons of snow piled on the deck of the H.M.S. Vanguard at Portsmouth. Sailors began early this morning shoveling the three-inch snowfall from the ship and from the jetty, in preparation for the royal family's arrival.

Severe wintry weather and a heavy fall of snow blanketed London's grimy buildings at the departure of the royal party. It forced cancellation of the planned state parade, and relieved Londoners of the duty of standing in freezing cold to wave "bon voyage" to their king and queen.

However, some crowds were expected to gather despite the slush and bitter winds to bid farewell to the royal party.

Added Interest

Besides it being the first time the young princesses ever have gone outside Britain, the journey has taken on added interest for the British people. This stems from the general belief that the engagement of Princess Elizabeth to Prince Philip of Greece may be announced when the royal family returns to England in May.

The heiress to the throne will celebrate her 21st birthday while the royal party is in Capetown on April 21, a few days before the departure for England.

The king's brother and sister, the Duke of Gloucester and the Princess Royal, will travel with the royal party to Portsmouth, where the royal special train is due at 4:25 p. m. (11:25 a. m. EST.)

carrying out our promises, we have no right to say we are staying (in Palestine) for motives of honor.

"If there is no call to honor, then responsibility for stopping civil war between Jew and Arab ought to be borne by the United Nations—not this poor, overburdened and nearly-injured country."

"When the present conference is over and unless the United States comes in with us on a 50-50 basis to shoulder an agreed policy, then we should lay our candidate at the feet of the United Nations."

Disclosure that Sir Alan Cunningham, high commissioner for Palestine, had ordered evacuation of women and children together with other "non-essential persons" which included correspondents and even clergymen led to a tornado of speculation.

Moshe Shertok, speaking on behalf of the Jewish agency, said:

"It is a great shock. It is drastic action. The reason is not known to us but it must be in anticipation of some trouble."

JERUSALEM, Jan. 31.—(INS)—Lieut. Gen. Sir Alan Cunningham, British high commissioner for Palestine, today ordered the evacuation of all British women and children from the Holy Land.

The order stated that the women and children—"and certain other British civilians"—will be evacuated so "the government armed forces" shall not be hampered in their task of maintaining order.

Well-informed quarters said the evacuation will begin on next Tuesday, February 4.

In addition, all married and single army personnel living outside military compounds were ordered to move into Allenby Barracks by five o'clock this afternoon.

Other security measures were adopted by the authorities.

was delivered by Dr. Thomas E. Graham, of Ambridge, Pa., who brought the charge to the pastor.

He too, took his remarks from the life story of the Apostle Paul, using the Scripture reference, "Fight the good fight of faith." In his address is a constant fight against the powers of evil and wrong.

At the conclusion of the service, Dr. and Mrs. Graham and their three daughters, stood at the front of the church, while the members and friends of the church filed by, wishing them success in their new ministry. As a surprise, the Graham's eldest daughter, Miss Marjorie Graham, student at Muskingum college, New Concord, O., arrived home in time for the installation service.

Dr. Graham began his ministry at Third church on Sunday, January 7, but his family did not arrive until January 22.

year. If it materializes it will traverse a long section of Lawrence county.

No one here knows definitely what the cost to this county would be. Whether the county would be responsible for land purchases, bank maintenance, bridge raising and wharfing and docking facilities is unknown, and the purpose of the local delegation to the Pittsburgh meeting is to find out.

There is considerable for the canal, much of it in the eastern end of Ohio. In the Pittsburgh district sentiment is somewhat divided, with the Pennsylvania congressional delegation split on the issue. In order to get some facts upon which to base an opinion the local delegation will attend the meeting.

WASHINGTON CALLING

by MARQUIS
CHILD

Believes Vandenberg Is Needed At Home

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31.—Great pressure is being put on Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg to persuade him that his duty is to go to Moscow with Secretary of State George C. Marshall for the initial German-peace conference. It is necessary, so the argument runs, to keep as many of the regulars on the foreign-policy team as possible, now that a new captain has taken over.

On the surface at least, this argument has a certain persuasiveness. It would undoubtedly be a help to Marshall to be flanked by the Republican policymaker who saw it through with former Secretary of State James P. Byrnes in the siege of Paris and New York.

But there are far more potent arguments on the other side, and in the end they are likely to determine Vandenberg's course of action. It is a test on which so much turns that it would be difficult to exaggerate its importance.

On the level of fine talk, Vandenberg has put his party on record in favor of a nonpartisan foreign policy with the major aim of world co-operation through the United Nations. To make that fine talk a reality, the Republican Congress must take those steps in coming weeks, at the very time when Vandenberg would be in Moscow.

Knows About Treaties

First of all, the peace treaties with Italy, Hungary, Romania and Bulgaria are coming before the Senate. As chairman of the Senate foreign relations committee and president of the Senate, Vandenberg would have a great deal to do with chaperoning those treaties safely through to approval. In addition, he knows far more about them than any other member of his party, since he helped to negotiate them. With Senator Tom Connally of Texas, his opposite number in the Democratic party, he is one of the authors of those treaties. If Vandenberg were absent, the treaties might run into trouble.

There is far more likelihood of trouble over the reciprocal trade program. Some horse-and-buggy Republicans out of the McKinley era, such as Senator Hugh Butler of Nebraska, are talking about getting tariffs back into Congress, where the good old log-rolling technique would kill any hope of expanded world trade.

Vandenberg believes he can bring his party around to a moderate stand on tariffs and the reciprocal program. Certainly, with his prestige and influence in the party, he has a better chance than anyone else of bringing about a reasonable agreement. But he cannot do it if he is 10,000 miles away in Moscow.

International Relief

Another responsibility confronting the senator from Michigan is on international relief. The Republicans are economy-minded. They want to pare the budget wherever they can—and hungry Europeans do not vote in this country. Vandenberg, however, is deeply conscious of the need to continue effective relief on a substantial scale. He will fight hard for that objective.

Still another important task will be his in coming weeks. The American share of the United Nations bill will soon be presented to Congress. Vandenberg knows about the U. N. budgets because he helped to work them out. He was one of those who successfully resisted the move to put an outside share of the cost of U. N. on this country.

Weighed in the balance, the senator's duty to stay home and take care of his job in the Senate is seen clearly to outweigh any obligation he might feel to go to Moscow. If Secretary Marshall feels it imperative to have both a Republican and a Democrat at his side, he can take John Foster Dulles as a substitute from Vandenberg.

In reality, of course, the coming conference in Moscow will be merely preliminary. No one is foolish enough to believe that a peace treaty for Germany can be prepared in a few weeks. It would be logical to expect that a later conference would be held next fall or winter, at which the foreign ministers would come closer to the final terms.

With Congress adjourned, Vandenberg might be free to attend that later session. But his first obligation now is here in the Senate. The Republican majority scuttles the trade program and kills all or most relief, then the fine talk about agreement on a nonpartisan foreign policy will not mean very much. It would be little help to the world if, while Senator Vandenberg was in Moscow, his party walked out on the realities of America's position.

What People Say

WASHINGTON—Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg, (R) Michigan comments on Polish elections: "A world war which started in behalf of Polish liberty, can scarcely be considered adequately won until Polish liberty is something more than a rigged and terrorized election."

NEW YORK—Robert R. Wason, chairman of the board of National Association of Manufacturers assails Republicans in congress over labor legislation: "Political promises of 1946 are in effect now the closed shop is as satisfactory to the politicians of both parties as a means of controlling votes as it is satisfactory to the union bosses who use it to control men."

TOPEKA, Kas.—Harold E. Stassen, avowed Republican 1948 presidential candidate: "I believe that for the future view of a free economy in America and of a high standard of living, it is essential that our Republican party in the years immediately ahead be the champion of small business."

The Republicans have become as noisy about tax cuts as a toothless man eating wet sponge cake.

Under the Democrats we worked three days a week for the treasury and so far the new management has done nothing to change our hours.

The Democrats once promised a 25 per cent cut, the Republicans promised a 20 per cent cut; everybody promises cuts and we always wind up with bruises.

Government has a boyish aversion to having its allowance cut and unfortunately has many sympathizers for a different reason.

Those are the people who don't care where the money goes so long as it is taken away from someone who has more than they have.

They are for high taxes like the maid who was for single-blessedness until she found a husband.

There is nothing wrong with their viewpoint that a million dollars wouldn't cure if they could latch onto it.

LOOKING AT LIFE

By ERICH BRANDEIS

It would be much better if men didn't buy wearing apparel for women as birthday or Christmas presents, said a Des Moines department store manager in a recent interview.

The great majority of post-Christmas exchanges are due to the fact that men don't know the sizes of slips, dresses, gloves, stockings and other feminine things.

"When men guess wrong about sizes," he said, "they usually guess too small. I imagine it is flattering to the girl friend."

However, the manager isn't too worried about those exchanges. "Exchanges also bring additional sales," he said.

That fellow knows what he is talking about. As a matter of fact, men not only know little about sizes, but to judge by myself and several of my friends, they don't even know anything about women's tastes.

For instance: Yesterday was my wife's birthday. The reason I remembered it was because I had my secretary put it on her calendar and on mine, with strict admonition to remind me.

So I rushed out to buy a present. I went to one of New York's best stores where they showed me a gorgeous scarf.

It had just come over from France and was terrifically expensive.

Real silk, with hand-bleached animals all over it.

There were buffalo and deer and tigers and a giraffe and a couple of bears out of the fairy tales.

I had never seen anything like it, and the saleswoman assured me that I would never see another one like it.

They put it into a beautiful box and wrapped it in gift paper with a silver ribbon around it.

I took it home, fully expecting to have my wife open it and exclaim her thanks in sheer delight.

She did thank me, out after twenty-five years of marriage. I knew the infection of her voice very well.

She went into the closet. She held it up against her fur coat, against a green dress and a gray suit and she put it around her neck and looked at it in the mirror.

"Odd, isn't it?" she finally said and put it back into the box—with a sigh.

Tomorrow she is going into New York and I know she is going to exchange it. I know because, after much pressure on my part and after assuring her that it wouldn't hurt my feelings in the least, she finally agreed.

Would you believe it? After all these years I still don't know the size of a single thing my wife wears.

And would you believe this? My wife is very happy that I don't know any of her sizes.

One of the greatest delights of the average woman, she tells me, is to shop and pick her own things.

So what can a poor husband do? Give her the money.

From Me To You

Did you read the sports page last night . . . if you did, then you know all about the great asset to this community. Thanks . . . it's such a small word . . . and doesn't carry the full feeling that we have toward the persons responsible for the new ball park that will be in use this coming summer.

It's the Johnson-Bronze project that we are talking about . . . through the efforts of the Johnson-Bronze Company and the Employees Organization of the same . . . came the announcement that a very up-to-date Baseball Park will be constructed and will be ready for use this summer. It will take a lot of cash . . . but more than that . . . it has taken and will take a lot of planning . . . which means that a lot of heads get together and work out the little bugs that always appear in such an extensive project.

To Joe Daugherty . . . head of the Employees group . . . and to J. Preston Flaherty, president of the company . . . go the thanks from thousands of baseball fans in this community.

Can't get over the thrill of thinking about night baseball right here in little old New Castle . . . more than ever do we reaffirm our belief in this small but progressive community . . . this small town will go on to greater heights . . . because we have men and women like the men and women found in the buildings of the Johnson-Bronze company.

Aside from the ball park at the site in Croton . . . we understand the employees are going to fix up some other recreation spots . . . like tennis . . . horseshoe courts . . . and a picnic grove. Man oh man . . . there is nothing better than getting exercise and enjoying that exercise with people you like.

And the city baseball league . . . under the present leadership of "Bugs" Walters . . . keep up the good work and you won't be disappointed in the support given baseball this summer by local fans.

House To Carry Ball On Labor Bills

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31. THOUGH most of the journalistic and political speculation on the subject of labor legislation centers around the action of the Senate and the Senate Labor committee, of which Senator Taft is chairman, in all probability the House and the House committee, of which Representative Hartley of New Jersey is chairman, will take the initiative.

THIS is absolutely in accord with custom. As far back as the third Roosevelt term the House has taken the lead. It was the House which first passed the Smith-Connally bill; then (twice) the Hobbs anti-racketeering bill; then the Case bill. Regularly the House, supposedly the more responsive body to public sentiment, has acted first, and almost as regularly the Senate has either smothered the House bill in committee or reluctantly passed it in emasculated form.

ONE thing is certain—this time the House bill will not be smothered, as with the help of the late Mr. Roosevelt, was done so many times. Even if Senator Taft were a bill smotherer—which he is not—that is not going to happen this time. There is too much popular interest and concern for that sort of strategy now even if the Senate chairman were a loyal CIO servitor as has been the case for some years past. The House bill will be amended but not smothered. Nevertheless, there is every expectation that the House will pass its bill possibly before the Senate committee through its hearings—and certainly before the Senate has a final vote. For this there are a number of reasons.

FIRST, the House, being closer to the people, knows more clearly what the people want; second, the House always has been more strongly convinced of the need for restrictive labor legislation than the Senate; third, the House, though more than four times as large, has fewer militant pro-CIO figures; fourth, unlimited debate is not possible under House rules; fifth, the real fight of the CIO leaders and their propagandists will be concentrated upon the Senate committee and then upon the Senate, as a whole. In brief, the pressure to avert anything like an effective law will be far greater on the Senate committee than in the House, for the simple reason that the chances of success are better there.

ALREADY, things have reached the point where the CIO agents and promoters are predicting that nothing "drastic" will come out of the Senate committee. And for this they have some foundation. For example, it is pointed out that there still remain on the committee four Democrats—Murray, Pepper, Thomas and Hill—whose CIO leanings and record are well understood. In addition, there are on the committee those two breast-beating Republican statesmen—Senator Wayne Morse, of Oregon, and Senator George Aiken, of Vermont—both of whom shrink from anything "drastic" and play up to the "true liberals" who consistently bathe them with favorable publicity.

IN THIS situation it is pointed out that, regardless of Senator Taft, Senator New, newly elected Republican from New York, will be a key man. And for this there is great rejoicing in CIO circles, as Mr. New is known to be against anything "drastic." Those who know him best say that at heart he does not think any legislation at all is needed, which is certainly the CIO position. Mr. New, his friends say is one of those who believes that the way to settle all labor-industry disputes is for the labor bosses and the employers to sit around a table and hold hands.

CONSIDERING these facts, it is easy to understand why we are being assured by journalistic spokesmen for the CIO that nothing "drastic" nor "extreme" nor "repressive" (which means smothering effective) need be feared from the Senate committee. They even intimate now that Senator Taft himself is inclined toward the side of the "moderates," is opposed to anything of a "punitive" nature, shudders at the idea of outlawing the closed shop, is intensely conscious that his attitude on labor legislation will affect his presidential chances—is, in fact, prepared to sponsor a milk-and-water measure to which no labor professional will violently object.

PERHAPS they are right. Perhaps the mere threat of the "big denunciation act" has alarmed Mr. Taft. Perhaps he does not believe the country wants real protection against the abuses to which it has been subjected in the last two years. But somehow it does not sound like Senator Taft—either to be alarmed by the threat or confused by the characterization of every real proposal as "drastic," "punitive" or "extreme." It will be interesting to see. In any event, for the reasons given above, the House, while not likely to take hasty action, probably will carry the ball.

The World and the Mud Puddles

WATCH THE CONSUMER

How does it happen that Americans have the highest standard of living ever known to any people? How is it that four American families out of five have automobiles? How is it that there is hardly a home in this country without a radio? How is it that we are the best fed, best clothed, best housed people of all the world?

The answer is, because of American productive genius. It is this genius based on endless research, constant experimentation and technological perfection which has given us what we call mass production. Supplementing this genius, of course, has been American courage, daring risks to achieve an objective, and American faith in America.

The beneficiary of our tremendous productivity in times past has been the consumer—the customer. American industry does not claim to be philanthropic. It is operated for the legitimate purpose of making profits. But we have demonstrated in this country that the surest route to profits is not small sales at high prices, but large sales at low prices. Industry knows that its success, in a world of genuine competition, depends on giving the customer the most and the best for the least money.

To this end the scientific and engineering talents of thousands of men are drafted into the ranks of producers. Economies are involved. Short cuts are worked out. New materials are utilized. Because the other fellow—the competitor—may prove able to produce a little better or a little more cheaply, every industrialist must be forever alert. The beneficiary of this unrelenting rivalry logically is the user of industry's products. Industry is working for profits, it is true, but it is working for him, because he provides the profits.

An equitable sharing of the advantages of modern American industry would be a division between the manufacturer (the stockholders whose investments make factories possible and the geniuses who contribute their technical knowledge), the workers who do the actual producing, and the consumer. That is the sort of sharing which has built our mammoth industries, which has made prosperous workers and which has brought the good things of life within financial reach of the masses.

When the tool owners take too much in earnings, or when labor takes too much in wages, then the consumer is penalized, deprived of the benefits of technological genius and mass production. In the long

Views Of The News

By J. C. OESTREICHER
(U. S. Foreign Editor)

Early clarification of Soviet Russia's terms for extending her treaty of alliance with Great Britain was anticipated today.

The result may be an exposition, for the first time since the armistice at Reims ended European hostilities, just what Premier Generalissimo Joseph Stalin feels must be done to preserve peace.

Thus far, all that is known is that Stalin wants to free the present pact from certain "reservations" before it is renewed beyond the present 20-year period.

What these "reservations" may be no one seems to know exactly. But there are definite indications that Stalin may announce sooner or later that this or any similar treaty must be broadened beyond its existing framework to become all-embracing and provide for adequate mutual assistance against attack from any quarter.

The history of international treaties since the end of the First World War is anything but a chronology of happy endings and success.

However, it is equally possible that he remembers the diplomatic approaches made by Britain to Moscow before the second war broke out. The circumstances always annoyed the Russian mind, just as did the Soviet Union's exclusion from the Munich conference of 1938.

The British government Neville Chamberlain sent a delegation to Moscow to lay definite plans for the protection of Poland in event of German attack.

Full minutes of these discussions never have been made public. It is generally believed that this in brief was the course of events:

First, Russia agreed, on condition that at the first sign of danger Soviet troops must enter upon Polish territory to set up defense lines at a point sufficiently far to the west to stem a German onslaught.

Second, Poland is reported to have said it never would agree to incursion of Russian forces and would regard such a measure as aggression.

In any case, these negotiations collapsed completely.

It is clear that the present Anglo-Soviet treaty was designed primarily to prevent any fresh aggression by a possibly-revitalized Germany.

Stalin's desire now to extend the scope of the pact would seem to indicate Russia's belief that the Reich has been eliminated from the sphere of potential aggressors. What nations he envisages as possible successors to Germany in this field comprises a subject for interesting speculation.

It's Not A Gag Law

The United States Senate has before it at the present time a bill to invoke cloture within the chamber by a majority vote instead of the two-thirds which has too long been necessary.

The bill is designed to break up the practice of filibustering, a pastime which has been engaged in too often by both Democrats and Republicans alike when they wished to override the constitutional majority on a bill to which they were opposed.

The majority is not always right but that's the rule in the United States. If 49 senators believe a bill should be voted upon then the other 47 certainly have no moral right to stop the vote. Under the present rule 33 senators from sparsely populated states can thwart the will of heavily populated states like Pennsylvania, New York, Ohio, Illinois, California, to name a few.

Under the new law, debate upon a measure would be limited to a specified time, after which a vote would be taken. The bill guards the rights of the minority to be heard but it would strip from them the specious right to include in their remarks quotations from Aristotle, reports of dust dry statistics, and the mean rainfall on the Sahara desert when these things are dragged in only to waste time.

The new bill wouldn't gag any senators but it would shut off the peanut political oratory of a small group of senators who would tie up every bill before the Senate in order to defeat a vote upon a measure they do not like, regardless of the importance of it.

This is no threat to free speech or extended debate. It is a sensible curb proposed to be placed upon senatorial windbags.

Potato Economics

Many Americans must have gasped when they learned that the country is going to chuck some 20,000,000 bushels of potatoes into the dump. The move appears to be a foolish waste of one of the world's best staples.

The war is the reason for the potato surplus. To stimulate food production, the government promised farmers to keep the prices of their products up for the duration and two years thereafter. It was a fair deal, for the farmer was forced to work long hours and to get along with poor equipment. The country drew on his future and it was only fair to see him through.

Potato growers were among others who, knowing that a good price in 1946 was assured, produced a good crop. They produced 50 per cent more potatoes than the country needs for food. The government held the surplus off the market to support the price. But potatoes can not be held indefinitely. They can be stored for a long time only under conditions not available to most growers. And the 1947 crop will also, and for the same reason, be large.

Sending the surplus to the starving Europeans seemed a good idea, but overseas production supplanted most of the potato element in the diet of the defeated peoples. Diversion of the surplus to the manufacture of stock feed, starch and alcohol gave some relief. But on January 1 the federal government still held 45,000,000 bushels of potatoes. Hence the dumping.

Planning To Plant

For the old hand, and consequently for wise beginners, the gardening season is already here. It is time to start seeds in flats indoors, or soon will be, and not too long, as time is measured, before the first peas go into the open ground. Therefore no time should be wasted in getting the planning job accomplished.

It is quite a job. The novice, appealing to the experienced gardener for some advice on how to go about it, should not be deceived by off-hand answers to his questions. The man with a few seasons of gardening behind him can do most of his planning in his head. He has mental notes to guide him when he makes out his seed list and he can finish the business in short order. But the uninitiated will find it full of complexities.

The over-all question, for most home gardeners, is how to make the best use of limited space. And this question raises a score of others. How many feet of row should go to this, that and the others, and how many packets of each will be needed for planting? What yield can be expected from a dozen tomato plants? Will it be enough to provide the family with salads all summer and some over for canning? What about companion crops? And succession crops?

These are only a starter, for it is also necessary to ask what varieties are best for this locality. Are the new ones better than the old? They are all glowingly described in the seed catalogues. Is it a good idea to choose the disease-resistant kinds? What about hybrids?

Fortunately the literature is extensive. It is almost too much so. But with a good manual and the material to be had from government agencies, the answers can be found and the plan put down on paper. Few gardens are ever like these plans but fewer unplanned gardens ever amount to much.

Hoover has taken over the job of feeding the Germans, answering the query as to what ex-presidents are good for.

It may be that people in the world are getting smarter and smarter as the years go by but it won't do them much good if they forget how to work.

Among the disappointments of 1946 were Henry Wallace of the New Deal, Ted Williams of the Boston Red Sox and anybody who boxed Joe Louis.

League Debates On
Wagner Labor Law,
Income Tax LawForum On Current Legislative Topics Features League Of Women Voters Meet

At the January meeting of the League of Women Voters in the Y. W. C. A. Thursday afternoon, two matters currently before Congress, the budget and the income tax rate, and proposals for labor legislation, were the subject of forum debates.

"Should the Wagner Labor Relations Act Be Revised?" was the question discussed by Mrs. L. F. Kohn and Mrs. Alec Samuels with the former taking the affirmative and the latter the negative position. On the question "Should the present income tax rate be continued or be reduced 20 per cent?" Miss Marguerite D. White and Miss Margaret G. Brown spoke, the former for continuance and the latter for a reduction.

Mrs. Kenneth Beck acted as moderator of the forum program. Group discussion followed presentation of both topics.

In any discussion of the Wagner Act, Mrs. Samuels pointed out, it is necessary to keep in mind its aims and purposes, that it protects and ensures only, does not give 'rights' to either labor or management. The proposed Ball-Tait-Smith bill includes provisions to outlaw strikes and secondary boycotts, for a 'cooling off' period, and for a full annual financial report by labor unions.

Mrs. Lyle Hughes presided over the business meeting during which Miss Rosa Brown reported on state legislation and Mrs. W. H. Humphrey on local legislation for Mrs. Bernard Hook.

Letter On Survey

In a report on the Child Welfare survey, Mrs. Kohn read a copy of the letter that has been sent by the county commissioners requesting the Public Charities of Pennsylvania to make a survey of welfare services in the county as they pertain to children and teen-agers. She also read the letter received in reply from Mrs. Helen G. Tyson, who spoke at a meeting in the court house several months ago.

Next meeting of the league will take place on Feb. 27.

Two Trainmen Killed In Wreck

Nine Persons Hurt When Locomotive Hits Caboose Of Train Stalled In Snow

ALTA VISTA, La., Jan. 31.—(INS)—Two trainmen were dead today and nine were suffering injuries following a collision between a locomotive and the caboose of a freight train stalled in a snowdrift.

The accident occurred on the Chicago Great Western Railroad during a blinding snowstorm near Alta Vista yesterday.

Engineer George Klahr of the locomotive said the snow prevented him from seeing the freight train.

The boiler of the locomotive exploded as it ripped into the caboose and two freight cars. The engine had been sent from Rochester, Minn., to pull the freight from the drift.

Wayne Miller, 35, Paul, Minn., was killed instantly. Paul Butterfield, McIntyre, La., died in a hospital a few hours later. Both Miller and Butterfield and most of the injured were in the caboose.

Klahr, the locomotive engineer, suffered burns.

WHEN GIRL ASKS BOY TO PROM

"I am a senior in high school. I have asked a boy I know slightly to take me to our Prom. Must I pay for the tickets, taxicab fare, my flowers and our snack after the dance? Must I also spend the entire evening with him, dancing with him exclusively? If he leaves me to dance with someone else, what should I do? On which shoulder should I wear my corsage? Where should I leave my purse while dancing?"

Answer: Since you have invited him to the dance, you must supply and pay for both of the tickets. All other expenses of the evening—taxicab, flowers, refreshments—should be borne by him. And most boys send their "date" a corsage. It is not compulsory but usual.

It is always a good idea to invite a boy whom you know fairly well or one who had previously asked you for dates.

You may dance with other boys who ask you, provided you have consulted your escort so that he might make plans of his own for the period during your absence. Likewise if the plans to dance with others, he should see that you are "booked up" also and not left stranded.

Usually there is a "swap partners" arrangement at dances which certainly makes for more gaiety and a greater opportunity for "getting acquainted."

You may wear your corsage on either shoulder. Carry a tiny evening bag and keep it hanging on your arm or in your hand while dancing. If you prefer, keep it with your wrap in the cloak room, provided it contains no valuables.

Question: How should a letter be addressed to a widow: Mrs. John Andrews or Mrs. Sarah Andrews?

Answer: Mrs. John Andrews always—never Mrs. Sarah.

Present your problems to Miss Martel who will promptly mail personal replies to questions from readers inclosing a stamped self-addressed envelope.

Urge Survivors Of War Veterans Claim Benefits

Immediate Application Stressed By Manager Of
Local Social Security
Office

World War II veterans who may qualify for social security benefits should apply for benefits at once to avoid loss of money. This warning was issued today by Edward J. Sinder, manager of the New Castle Social Security Office.

The 1946 veterans' amendment to the Social Security Act provided monthly cash benefits for dependents of ex-servicemen who died or will die within three years after discharge, leaving their survivors without compensation or pensions from the Veterans Administration.

Mr. Sinder explained that survivors of World War II veterans who died before enactment of the amendment on August 10, 1946, were given six months in which to apply for benefits payable back to the date of the veteran's death. That six month period expires February 10th, 1947.

Monthly benefits may be payable to children under 18 and to the widows taking care of them, to widows 65 years of age or older, or in some cases, to aged dependent parents. If no monthly benefits rate payable a lump-sum death benefit may be paid.

Under these 1946 amendments, Mr. Sinder pointed out, these benefits may be payable even though the veteran never had a social security card or never worked on a job covered by the Social Security Act.

Cites Example

Mr. Sinder cited the following example: Fred Jones entered service in October 1942 and was honorably discharged in June 1945. He had suffered no disability while in service. In July 1945 he was killed in an accident. He left a young widow and a one year old child. Fred had never worked under Social Security. By filing an application for benefits before February 10th, 1947, Mrs. Jones and the child will be entitled to monthly benefits totaling $40.22 a month. These payments will go back to July 1945 and will continue until the child reaches 18. If Mrs. Jones were to wait until after February 10th, 1947, to file her claim, the benefits would only be retroactive three months.

"Applications under the veterans' amendment have been far fewer in this area and nationally than was expected," Mr. Sinder said. "It is possible that a number of eligible persons have failed to apply for their benefits." They should seek information at once at the nearest social security office. The New Castle office is located at 306 Neshannock avenue.

Motorist Escapes Watery Death By Keeping His Head

THE DALLES, Ore., Jan. 31.—(INS)—A cool-headed driver told today how he avoided drowning by staying in his submerged car after it had dived into eight feet of water in the Columbia river.

Phil L. Ryan of Seattle drove off a wharf into a ferry slip as the ferry pulled out. He tried to open the door, but the water pressure kept it shut.

Fighting back his panic, he stayed in the car five or six minutes until water seeping in had equalized the pressure and the water had risen to his neck.

Then he opened the door and shot to the surface before amazed on-lookers, who pulled him out.

To Fly Body Of Grace Moore To Paris Tomorrow

Paris, Jan. 31.—Jefferson Caffery, United States ambassador to France, will be among the many notables who will attend funeral services for Grace Moore to be held Monday noon in the American Cathedral.

BUY FORGING PLANT

FIND AUTO USED IN OAKMONT GUN FIGHT WITH POLICE

PITTSBURGH, Jan. 31.—(INS)—Police reported today that a blood-stained and bullet-torn 1946 automobile, in which three gunmen staged a running gunfight with Oakmont police yesterday, was found last night in nearby Indiana township.

Police said the automobile wore Ohio license plates and was believed stolen. It was identified as the car in which the three gunmen escaped yesterday after they were surprised while apparently attempting to enter the Elch Motor company in Oakmont. The bandits eluded police and after a chase during which more than 60 shots were fired.

Police said the bloodstains continued their belief that at least one of the men was wounded.

JAIL MYSTERY NOW EXPLAINED

INDIANA, Pa., Jan. 31.—(INS)—Sheriff William J. Moore of Indiana county has solved the mystery of the happy prisoners in his tax-supported hostility.

He had Raymond Gunter of Center township under arrest as an accessory to the prisoners' happiness.

Sheriff Moore said he noticed that several times after Gunter visited the jail the prisoners sang, danced and were generally happy. Yesterday he hid on a catwalk above the cell block and watched Gunter "feed" liquor to the inmates.

Gunter, he said, thrust a glass straw through the heavy wire mesh of the cell block, inserted one end in a bottle and the prisoners did the rest.

JAP ADMIRAL NOT TO STAND TRIAL

TOKYO, Jan. 31.—(INS)—The legal section of Allied occupation headquarters announced today that Japanese Admiral Kiyoshi Hasegawa will not be prosecuted for war crimes because of insufficient evidence.

Hasegawa, former governor general of Formosa, has been released from Tokyo's Sugamo prison where he had been held for questioning.

Figures On County Revenues And Finances For Year Are Given

OTHER NEWS OF COURT HOUSE

Already on public view, the budgets for your county, institution and bridge and highway expenditures are completed by the county controller and for 20 days the budgets will be open for inspection by the lad who pays the bill—the taxpayer.

Not that the average taxpayer will take the time to go up and see the budget, but it's there anyway.
Usually there isn't three people ask to look at the budget although it is the document that shows what money is expected to be collected and how much will be spent.

Even though you won't go up to the court house to see the budget, here's a thumb nail look at the general budget for county purposes.
The fiscal year starts with a balance of $249,409.96 in the treasury. After that the estimated receipts will come from the following sources.

Current levy at 4 1/2 mills, $253,565.
Prior years interests and penalties,
$28,000. Licenses and permits, $390.
Fines and forfeits, $10,300. Grants and gifts, $20. Departmental earnings, $38,400. Sale of property and equipment, $100. Miscellaneous receipts, $6,300. That totals $586,294.96 which the commissioners expect to come in.

Estimated expenditures and expected unappropriated balance show the same total, $586,294.96. This is broken down as follows: General governmental expenditures, $200,207.
Judicial expenditures, $108,497. Corrections, $76,767. Charities $11,050.
Miscellaneous, $80,509. Capital outlay, administrative, $36,375. Judicial, $26,500. Corrections $300 and interest, $10,000.

Receipts in 1946 were more than the estimate which was $339,230.71.
Actually, $642,628.13 was received.
Expenditures were away under the estimate of $529,517.55. Actually they were $393,218.19. This accounts for the fairly heavy balance on hand at the first of the year 1947.

The Sinking Fund shows a balance of $96,319.92. To this will be added $61,785 making a total of $158,104.92 in the Sinking Fund.
Out of this will come $36,000 bond redemption, about $8,000 interest, and possibly $20,000 for the county
retirement fund.

Reveal Dangers Of Relying Upon 'Secret' Weapons

Confidence In "Push Button" War May Lead To Another Pearl Harbor, Is View

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31.—(INS)—An official War department document Wednesday warned widespread confidence in weapons for "push button" warfare as the same kind of military thinking which resulted in Pearl Harbor.

The document stated that "with this in mind the War department cautions to play down all references to the effectiveness of guided missiles and other 'push button' warfare devices."

Many Americans were said to have the idea that in a future war it would be necessary only to push a button or pull a lever and some all-point mechanical contraption would destroy all enemies at a single stroke.

The document issued to Army Public Relations officials carried this warning:

"There is the same type of military thinking which permeated Germany just before it was battered into submission by the weight of manpower and steel of the Allied ground-air team.

False Security
"From a defensive standpoint, it is the same type of thinking which lulled the Third French republic into a false sense of security behind its supposedly impregnable Maginot line, and this country into the fallible two-ocean isolationism which culminated in Pearl Harbor."

"Push button" warfare devices such as guided missiles were said to be still in the experimental stage with their effectiveness in actual combat unknown.

Building up public confidence in such weapons until it is justified by proof was emphasized to be against War department policy. It was stated that "the same is true in regard to stories or statements on the atom bomb."

The document observed that "it is the very men who worked closest to and have the most intimate knowledge of the new experimental devices, who are advising caution of this type of premature publicity."

The army's view was summed up in the words of the Russian military observer who viewed the detonation of the atom bomb in the first atomic bomb test at Bikini: "Not so much."

It was pointed out that through World War II the German propaganda mill gave widespread publicity to so-called secret weapons while comparatively little was said on the Allied side concerning newer and improved types of battle instruments.

Charges Millions Being Wasted On Atomic Energy

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31.—(INS)—Sen. Edwin C. Johnson (D) Colo., charged today that "millions and millions" of dollars are being wasted needlessly in the nation's atomic energy project.

Johnson, a member of the congressional atomic committee and the senate finance committee, called on the atomic commission to cut expenses—"but not to the bone."

The Colorado Democrat said he had no criticism of the wartime "pouring of billions, entirely on faith" into development of the world's most potent weapon. But now, he declared in a senate hearing on the appointment of commission members, the time has come for economy.

Testifies He Was Warned Of Penalty For Opposing Reds

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31.—(INS)—A former TVA employee testified today that an admitted communist TVA worker warned him that unless he quit interfering with radical activities he would be "stood against the well-known Russian wall" when communism came to power in America.

The witness, James L. Smith of Knoxville, Tenn., told the senate public workers committee he was advised that his anti-communist activity would "displease" the TVA personnel office headed by Gordon R. Clapp.

His testimony was brought out by Sen. McKellar (D) Tenn., who is opposing Clapp's confirmation to be a director of the Tennessee Valley Authority.

INCLUDE ALFALFA IN HOG PASTURES

Farmers now planning next year's pasture crops should include an alfalfa pasture for their hogs. Good alfalfa pasture saves five to 10 per cent of the grain and from 30 to 40 per cent of the protein supplement required for hogs.

In the planning of hog pastures, consideration needs to be given to the regular rotation of fields, and the early ordering of seed.

A good stand of alfalfa will graze 18 to 20 full-fed hogs to the acre, while the number may be reduced to 6 or 7 where the hogs are being grown more slowly on a half-feed of grain.

Besides saving other feeds, use of pasture, especially in the early spring, increases the milk flow of the brood sows and promotes health in the pigs.

it was anticipated he would spend six weeks in the Commonwealth.

Del Rio's tour was being sponsored by the American Road Builders' Association.

State Finances Being Surveyed

Governor Duff Makes Request Of State Legislature To Have Survey Made

OTHER NEWS OF STATE AFFAIRS

HARRISBURG, Jan. 31.—(INS)—The General Assembly's approval of a resolution establishing a committee to study the state's financial situation has caused many legislators to raise the question of a possible recess while the group conducts its study. House Majority Leader Herbert P. Sorensen indicated that G.O.P. leaders would not ask for a recess because it was anticipated there would be an adequate number of bills to be considered. Gov. James H. Duff, who requested the survey by the eight-member committee, also said he believed there would be sufficient legislation to keep assemblymen busy. It was expected that six weeks would be required to complete the study.

Because of the survey of fiscal affairs, Republican leaders were not expected to impose a deadline on the introduction of bills until late in March. Some assemblymen who have delayed having bills drafted have pointed out a bill deadline probably would not be fixed until the administration's program has been submitted. There was no indication when the bulk of Governor Duff's program would be tossed into the hoppers.

Sen. Elmer J. Holland (D) Allegheny, has suggested that meetings of the eight-member legislative committee scrutinizing Pennsylvania's financial situation be open to newsmen. He made the suggestion during debate on the resolution creating the committee. Holland's colleagues did not greet his suggestion with enthusiasm.

Some legislators, discussing the probable length of the 1947 session, have predicted that it may be mid-June before final gavel falls although Republican leaders have expressed the hope for a short session. It was believed that GOP leaders have expressed the hope for a short session. It was believed that GOP leaders were aiming for adjournment by April 15. Governor Duff's budget will be delayed pending the completion of a legislative study of finances and some legislators have expressed the belief that the adjournment would not be possible until "at least" two months after the budget has been presented. It was anticipated the financial blueprint would not be made available to the General Assembly until some time in March.

Although the House of Representatives usually convenes promptly at the designated hour, the Senate has continued to be tardy in starting its meetings. The 50-member Senate—"Pennsylvania's most exclusive club"—has been anywhere from 10 minutes to a half hour late in convening. The Senate Democrats, for example, frequently have been holding lengthy caucuses and missing the early part of some senate proceedings. The Senate is known as the state's "most exclusive club" because only 50 of the commonwealth's 10,000,000 residents are members.

Charwoman Takes U. S. Vacation On Her Life Savings

Englishwoman, 64, On 20,000-Mile Jaunt With Money Saved From Her Hard Labor

SALEM, Ore., Jan. 30.—(INS)—Mrs. Agnes Boyd looked out the window of her brother's house in Salem today, agreed the Oregon country was lovely but said she still was homesick for England.

Mrs. Boyd, 64, is going to the Pacific Northwest on a 20,000-mile dream holiday paid for by the money she managed to save from almost a lifetime as a charwoman.

She up and left her nine children and 25 grandchildren to their own devices and embarked on her three-month vacation.

"It's a dream come true," said the perky little woman. "All me life I thought such things were idle dreams. Then I just got a notion. I'd worked hard all me life. I'd saved a little. And the children said: 'Go to it, mother.' 'So I did.'"

Mrs. Boyd visited her two sisters in San Francisco. Mrs. Elizabeth McDowell and Mrs. Florence Farrell, where she "had a time of it."

"I've been spoiled," she confessed. "Very spoiled. I've been treated like a lady by everyone. And I will miss those washing machines, toasters and electric sewing machines."

"It seems that everyone has everything. Only the rich have such things in England. But I won't say too much," she said with twinkling eyes. "I've got to go back and live there."

"They'll say: 'Don't be coming back with that Yankee style...'"

Rev. M. F. Scruby To Address Youth

Final Week Night Service To Be Held In Prophetic Campaign At Alliance Church

"Jesus Turns Water Into Wine" is the subject chosen by Rev. M. F. Scruby, of Dayton, O., to deliver before an audience which will be made up primarily of youth tonight at 7:30 o'clock in the Christian and Missionary Alliance tabernacle, 210 Pearson street.

He will explain why Christ performed this first miracle and tell why youth always wins its biggest battles of life and loses the smaller ones.

During the service the well-known Youth for Christ ensemble, directed by Miss Mary Alken, will be heard in several selections. There will be no service in the church Saturday evening but there will be three services Sunday when Rev. Scruby will be heard at 10:45 a. m., 2:30 p. m. and 7:30 p. m. The afternoon service will be a mass meeting when many hundreds will hear an address of the subject "The Death of a Nation".

ERIE—It was mid-January but workers erecting a smokestack at a tannery were forced to quit when the unseasonably mild weather stirred thousands of bees which swarmed over the building.

TO REVIVE SKIING

HARRISBURG, Jan. 31.—(INS)—A two to three inch snowfall over the week-end was expected today to bring skiing back in season. The U. S. weather bureau at Harrisburg reported the greatest drifts would accumulate at higher elevations in western Pennsylvania. Snow would begin descending tomorrow, the bureau forecast, and temperatures would be "seasonable".

Chinese War Brides Detained For Check Of Marriage Papers

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 31.—(INS)—The old slogan of "no tickie no laundry" may well turn out to be "no license no hubby" for a batch of Chinese war brides detained at San Francisco.

Acting U. S. Immigration Commissioner T. B. Shoemaker in Philadelphia said officers of the agency are interrogating 122 Chinese women and 65 children they brought with them from their homeland to be reunited with ex-G. I. husbands.

"The difficulty is that it's hard to get any sort of documentation from China as to their marriages, and it is a long and tedious process in confirming their stories," Shoemaker said. He added:

"We must determine if they are truly what they represent themselves to be. Some of them may well consider themselves war brides, but their G. I. husbands in some cases might already have American wives."

Must Establish Facts
He explained the immigration authorities must establish these facts before permitting them to enter the country:

1. Whether the supposed ex-G. I. husbands of the Chinese women were legally free to marry them.

2. Whether the ex-G. I. is actually married in China.

3. Whether the Chinese girls are the actual ones that the G. I.'s did marry.

"The children also represent a problem," Shoemaker explained. "It's so hard to get any documentary evidence as to their status that it is a tedious task of interrogation of relatives, friends and the principals themselves, before we can be sure."

"Each case must be taken separately. With other war brides, we don't have this trouble, but through the years we've had the same difficulty with immigrants from China, where it is hard to get any sort of birth or marriage certificates."

Shoemaker said, however, that "we are interrogating them as fast as possible, and it may be that we can get them all cleared up within the next 10 or 15 days."

CHRISTIAN WAYS SURVIVE JAPANESE
CRUELTY IN ISLANDS

ERIE, Pa., Jan. 31.—(INS)—Japanese cruelty and atrocities during World War II failed to "kill off" Christianity in the Philippine Islands, according to Rev. Felisberto Cabotaje, a Protestant missionary.

Rev. Cabotaje told a meeting of Methodist Youth Groups in Erie that despite persistent Japanese cruelty, his mission gained converts each day.

The missionary credited the opportunity landing of American troops in 1944 with saving his wife and himself from certain starvation. He said they had been driven to the point of physical exhaustion by the Japanese.

Announces Prizes For Indianapolis Race Memorial Day

INDIANAPOLIS, Jan. 31.—(INS)—Wilbur Shaw, general manager of the Indianapolis motor speedway, announced today a guaranteed prize list of $75,000 for the 31st annual 500-mile race next May 30.

Shaw also confirmed earlier reports of changes in the regulations for the international speed classic as entry blanks were placed in the mails.

Must Be Heavy
He declared the 1946 entry blank listed prizes totaling $61,500, but the speedway voluntarily increased the amount to $75,000 in order to make possible an all-time "melon" of $115,450 when 33 contestants received their checks on the day following the race.

The remaining $40,500 came from the lap-prize and accessory funds.

Shaw announced that changes in regulations for the 1947 event remove all minimum weight requirements and restriction on body styles.

The only requirement this year will be that cars are heavy enough to be "trackworthy" in the opinion of the technical committee.

For every 30 persons killed in traffic in the winter months during the three hours just before sunset, 100 are killed in the three hours just after sunset.

Marshall Reports On Surplus Sales In Overseas Areas

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31.—(INS)—Secretary of State George C. Marshall reported to congress Thursday that the American taxpayer has recovered 23 per cent of the original cost in sales of surplus property overseas.

In his formal quarterly report covering operations to the end of 1946, Marshall said that property with an original cost of six billion 800 million dollars has been sold for one billion 590 million dollars. Remaining for sale at the end of the year was property worth originally one billion 365 million dollars. But, Marshall estimated, future declarations of property as surplus may increase this total by two billion dollars.

Helped Recovery

Of the property already sold, Marshall reported, one-fourth was paid for in dollars "or their equivalent". The remainder was sold for foreign currencies or by the advance of dollar credits to the purchasing country.

In addition to the monetary return to the American taxpayer, Marshall made two points. They are:

1. The sales have in many cases helped to develop the economic recovery of many foreign states.

2. The United States in some instances has been able to use the funds for real estate to house its embassies and legations abroad or to promote cultural relations programs, such as the exchange of students.

Aside from sales of surplus property, Marshall said, material with an original cost of 595 million dollars was disposed of "by other means".

The secretary said this included property transferred to UNRRA having an original cost of 128 million dollars but which offset U. S. contributions to UNRRA by 86 million dollars.

Search For Slayer Of 'Black Dahlia' In New Direction

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 31.—(INS)—Search for the Black Dahlia's slayer turned today in a new direction—to an army military policeman "so tough he once casually tore handfuls of hair from another soldier's head".

Police hunted the burly six-foot-two MP after learning that slain Elizabeth Short had a romance with him while working in the Camp Cooke Post Exchange.

An unnamed former Santa Maria, Cal., policeman said the soldier's behavior was so violent, especially when he was drinking, that he was relieved of his assignment.

The MP's outfit was transferred to Fort Benning, Ga., a few days later, and the informant continued:

"We all gave a sigh of relief because he was a tough customer. He was the terror of what is called 'Whiskey Row' in Santa Maria".

Investigation disclosed the Black Dahlia broke up with the soldier a sergeant, over his mistreatment of her. In fact, she was said to have complained about him to the major general of his outfit.

(BULLETIN)
SHANGHAI, Jan. 31.—(INS)—A ten-month old baby boy—the lone survivor of a Hankow air crash—arrived in Shanghai today under the care of Red Cross officials.

The baby is Paul Vick, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert A. Vick of Rochester, N. Y., who were presumed killed with another one of their children in the crash of a Chinese air liner last Tuesday.

The Vicks were missionaries aboard the plane with Methodist Bishop Schuyler E. Garth and his wife of Cheshire, Conn.

Although no bodies have been identified or brought from the scene of the crash, it is presumed that 27 persons perished.

It was recalled that when three Chinese planes crashed at Shanghai on Christmas Day a Chinese baby thrown clear was the lone survivor.

Refuse Appeal In Toll Bridge Issue

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 31.—(INS)—The state supreme court has refused a Commonwealth appeal upon its ruling prohibiting the state from purchasing ten privately owned toll bridges.

The high tribunal rejected a request for a re-argument on an appeal from a bill in equity brought by the Peoples Bridge Co. of Harrisburg against the Commonwealth.

The original ruling forbids state officials from purchasing a toll bridge at Sunbury until it has been established that nine similar bridges can also be purchased at a total cost of not more than $7 million.

Margarine Fees Declared Illegal

License Fees Collected By State For Past 46 Years
Held Illegal By Court

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 31.—(INS)—The state supreme court has declared illegal the heavy license fees collected by the commonwealth for 46 years from dealers in oleomargarine.

In a decision written by Chief Justice George W. Maxey, the tribunal upheld a Dauphin county common pleas court ruling that fees levied in the act of 1901 were confiscatory and unreasonable.

Five dealers last year challenged the legality of the fees—which are $500 for wholesalers and $100 for retail handlers of oleomargarine.

Upholds Dealers
Chief Justice Maxey's ruling upholding the dealers and the lower court stressed the point that the sales of license fees "are utterly disproportionate" to the sum required to enforce the licensing act. Maxey also emphasized that the general acceptance of the high levies without challenge since 1901 does not legalize them since "old age cannot give life" to unconstitutional acts.

He said the dealers "proved that from 1931 to 1945, the amount collected for licenses to sell oleomargarine was so far in excess of the amount required to enforce the regulation as to impose an unwarranted restriction upon a lawful business."

Justice Maxey added that the excessive fees operated in restraint of normal trade and exceeded all reasonable use of police power.

Widen Search For Grocery Robbers; Patrolman Killed

Three Thugs Loot Supermarket
Cash Box; Off-Duty Policeman
Killed In Flight

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 31.—(INS)—Aroused police today widened a search for two bandits following a supermarket robbery in which a patrolman off duty was shot to death.

The victim, Cecil Ingling, 34, fell with a bullet in his head as his wife and their two children watched in horror. Two thugs escaped but a third suspect was captured after a chase.

The three masked bandits had terrorized the crowded supermarket and fired several wild shots before running out of the place with several hundred dollars loot.

Ingling, who was unarmed, dashed up as the trio entered their getaway car. One of the bandits fired five shots at the officer, inflicting wounds from which he later succumbed at a hospital.

Two police scout cars happened along by chance and a savage cross-fire of bullets ensued. After a few miles the door of the bandit car swung open and a man tumbled out.

Two policemen stopped their machine and captured the man after a fight during which he used a .45 caliber revolver. The suspect identified himself as Edward Hough, 32, a paroled convict.

The other scout car continued pursuit of the bandit car but finally lost it. The car, a stolen sanitation department vehicle, was found abandoned and blood-stained later in the evening.

Urge Motorists To Take It Easy

State Motor Federation
Makes Plea For Safer
Driving In Pennsylvania

Urging motorists to "take it easy" and adopt safe driving habits, R. B. Maxwell, secretary-manager of the Pennsylvania Motor Federation, which represents 61 affiliated AAA automobile clubs in the state, stated today that it is a plan is followed a prediction by travel experts that traffic deaths in Pennsylvania will increase 25 per cent in Pennsylvania will not become a reality.

"Based on the increasing trend noted in fatalities last year in comparison to 1945, traffic experts predict that 1,890 persons will die in Pennsylvania traffic accidents this year," he said.

The official of the PMF, whose 265,000 AAA members are pledged to the "take it easy" campaign, cited several factors which may contribute to a lower traffic accident death toll than predicted.

"Extensive newspaper, radio and magazine safety campaigns are making the average motorist more safety-conscious than ever before in the history of motoring," Mr. Maxwell stated. "As a result, motorists are becoming better and safer drivers."

He also expressed the opinion that as old, worn-out cars pressed beyond their years of safe operation are replaced by new cars as the automotive industry meets the demand, the potential accident hazard created by mechanically unsafe vehicles will decrease.

"However, the most important single factor lies with the motorist himself," Mr. Maxwell concluded. "The accident rate is bound to decrease if the motorist remembers and observes safety regulations at all times and 'takes it easy' every time they climb behind the steering wheel."

Mansfield Wreck Is Blamed Upon Freight Engineer

Contend That Freight Engineer
Failed to Observe Signals, 19
Killed, 139 Injured

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31.—(INS)—The Interstate Commerce Commission today blamed a freight train engineer's failure to observe signals for the wreck of the Pennsylvania's crack Golden Triangle at Mansfield, O., December 13, in which 19 persons were killed and 139 injured.

The ICC reported that the rail disaster was caused by "failure to operate the following freight train in accordance with signal indications."

Negligence Denied
A freight of which Louis Petoskey, 55, of Toledo, O., was engineer, crashed into another freight train which had halted on the main line near Mansfield because of a broken air hose.

A few minutes later the west-bound Golden Triangle, roaring along at a speed of 70 miles an hour, thundered into the second freight. Many of the dead and injured were soldiers bound from eastern stations to their homes in the Middle West for Christmas furloughs. At the time of the crash Petoskey denied he had failed to obey "slow down" signals, asserting that "I had clear signals all the way."

Will Electrocute Youths On March 24 At Rockview Prison

HARRISBURG, Jan. 31.—(INS)—Two 22-year-old Philadelphians convicted of first degree murder were slated today to be electrocuted March 24 at Rockview penitentiary near Bellefonte.

Gov. James H. Duff fixed the execution date for David Brooks and Albert Wooding, both 22, for the fatal shooting of Thomas J. Burnby, 67, Philadelphia hardware dealer, during a robbery in which they obtained $6 and a revolver. The shooting occurred December 14, 1945. The governor's office reported that the state supreme court affirmed the trial court's judgment January 6.

TANNEHILL GETS FINE PROMOTION

Former District Manager Here Is Elected Secretary, Treasurer
Of Bell Company

RAY S. TANNEHILL

Ray S. Tannehill, former district manager here for the Bell Telephone company of Pennsylvania, was elected secretary and treasurer of the company, effective February 15, at a meeting of the board of directors yesterday in Philadelphia.

Mr. Tannehill who is now assistant vice president, has been associated with the Bell company for more than 23 years. He succeeds C. L. Ritchie, who is retiring.

A native of Duquesne, Pennsylvania, he was graduated from Duquesne high school and Pennsylvania State college. He started with the telephone company as a clerk in Pittsburgh shortly after his graduation from college in 1923.

Here Seven Years

During the next several years he served in various positions in Uniontown and Pittsburgh, being appointed district manager in New Castle in 1931.

He remained here until 1938, taking an active part in community affairs and serving as president of the New Castle Rotary club. In 1938 he was transferred back to Pittsburgh as general sales manager of the Bell Company's Western Pennsylvania territory. In 1940 he was named general commercial engineer in Western Pennsylvania and the following year was transferred to the company's Philadelphia headquarters as assistant vice president.

Unionization Of Foremen Assailed

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31.—(INS)—A steel industry leader from strike-worn Pittsburgh today attacked as a "radical" change in American free enterprise the unionization of foremen endorsed by Labor Secretary Schwelmbach.

H. Parker Sharp, director and general counsel of the Jones & Laughlin Steel Corporation, told the senate labor committee that pro-foremen activities of the National Labor Relations Board are a "menace to the economy of this country."

Sharp urged approval of the Ball-Taft-Smith bill proviso removing supervisory employees from coverage of the Wagner act.

His testimony was in direct opposition to that of Schwelmbach, who told the committee Tuesday that supervisory employees "are entitled to organize and bargain collectively with their employees."

The Ohio river is 975 miles long, and the area drained by it is computed to be 110,000 square miles. No American president ever died on a Friday the 13th.

March 3 has been designated as the date for the opening of bids for street signs, Council having authorized the taking of bids. The kind of standards and types will be determined when the bids are opened.

When Council compiled the city budget for 1947 there was allotted $7,500 for street signs. This sum would be insufficient, it was reported, to buy enough signs for all over the city, hence only as many as the sum will pay for will be purchased.

President Will Also Make Visit To Puerto Rico

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31.—(INS)—President Truman will visit Puerto Rico on the Caribbean cruise and attendance of fleet maneuvers during March.

The White House announced today the President will leave Washington in time to arrive at San Juan, Puerto Rico, on March 10.

Mr. Truman is expected to fly from Washington to Key West with an overnight stop there before flying on to Puerto Rico.

After visiting San Juan, the President will board the presidential yacht Williamsburg to witness maneuvers of the Atlantic fleet in the Caribbean.

He will then cruise through southern waters, being away from Washington possibly as long as two weeks.

Leave by Plane

The White House also announced that the chief executive will leave Washington for Mexico by plane in time to arrive in Mexico City at 10 a. m. March 3.

This would mean the presidential plane probably will take off from Washington around midnight the evening before.

The President will be in Mexico until the early morning of March 6 when he will take off for Waco, Tex., to receive an honorary degree at Baylor university.

Mr. Truman is scheduled to arrive at Waco by 11 a. m. He will make a speech at the Texas college upon receiving his degree and afterward will have lunch with President Pat Neff and members of the Baylor faculty.

He will then leave immediately by plane for Washington.

After a three-day stay in the capital he will head south again for the visit to Puerto Rico.

Manganite is an ore of manganese.

Food Shortages Still Threaten Some Countries

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31.—(INS)—An official of the International Emergency Food Council warned today that the world is faced with food shortages of "great severity" aggravated by a growing lack of cooperation from the council's 30 member nations.

Dr. Dennis A. Fitzgerald, secretary-general of the world-wide food organization, declared:

"It is abundantly clear that until the next harvest our work will be carried on continuously in the presence of crisis or threat of crisis."

Fitzgerald's statements were contained in an official report presented at the third meeting of the I. E. F. C., successor to the wartime Allied combined food board as world food allocator.

The council is made up of every major food trading nation except two—Russia and Argentina. Through commodity committees it controls imports and exports of critical foods.

Governor Favors New Tax Levies In Third Class Cities

HARRISBURG, Jan. 31.—(INS)—Gov. James H. Duff endorsed legislation permitting third class cities to tax items not levied on by the Commonwealth.

Speaking before the League of Third Class Cities at Harrisburg, Governor Duff threw his support behind the bill sponsored by House Minority Leader Hiram G. Andrews.

The governor said the measure "seems to be the answer" to the cities' financial problems but warned that if the municipalities turned to the Commonwealth for additional aid it was inevitable that the state would "insist on a larger share of the local government."

Seek To Combat Foot And Mouth Cattle Disease

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31.—(INS)—A joint Mexico-United States commission today called for immediate action to combat foot-and-mouth disease in Mexican cattle.

The commission declared that it constitutes "a grave danger to the livestock industries of Mexico, the United States and other countries."

The commission pointed out that the facilities of Mexico alone are "insufficient to cope successfully with this disease, which constitutes an international problem." It recommended immediate and adequate scientific, technical and financial co-operation between the two countries.

Babson Discusses Keys To Successful Living

By ROGER W. BABSON
Copyright, 1947, Publishers Financial Bureau, Inc.
BABSON PARK, Fla., Jan. 31.—For three score years I have been analyzing the causes of success and failure. Experience has taught me that financial success, job success, happiness in human relations are, in the main, the result of (a) physical well being; (b) constant effort to develop one's personal assets; (c) setting up and working toward a series of life goals; (d) allowing time for meditation and spiritual regeneration.

BABSON
meditation and spiritual regeneration.

Health and Success
Good health plays an important part in both contentment and achievement. Unhealthy persons generally lack poise, cannot sleep well, are listless. If we want happiness and success, if we want to avoid the ills that beset many Americans—headaches, indigestion, neuritis, backaches, and especially that tired feeling—then I suggest we adopt a set of simple rules of physical conduct and follow them rigorously. There is no royal road to health. Every person probably needs different treatment. That is why I urge you to seek your health rules from your physician. Be sure, too, that he gives you a thorough-going overhauling at least once a year.

Developing Personal Assets
Furthermore, if we are to be really happy and successful, we must discover the kinds of things we like most to do vocationally and are most capable of doing. Whether we be pupil or parent, I wonder if we realize that after-school and summer jobs have work elements which lead to good life jobs? For example, a part-time gas station attendant job, where the worker supplies the customer with gas, oil, air and water, does not differ materially from many other types of permanent jobs in customer service work. Take schooling seriously.

Correct English and spelling, for example, are the keys which unlock all subjects and many vocations. It is important to develop a few hobbies—make model airplanes, collect stamps, cook, read about great men. We should seize every opportunity to visit places of work, shops, hospitals, farms and factories. If after such practices we still have not found ourselves vocationally, then it's time to pay a visit to a nearby college, university or YMCA and ask them for help. Have them find out what special abilities we have such as mechanical aptitude, musical ability, clerical aptitude, social intelligence, etc. We must get a line on both our character and personality traits. How well do we get along with others? Have we initiative and drive? Are we dependable?

Setting Up Life Goals
Having thus discovered our interests, abilities, personal qualities, etc., our next step in self-development is to match our personal qualities to jobs that might well utilize our abilities and interests. Again, local school teachers, headmasters, the YMCAs, Veterans' Administration centers will be glad to counsel with us. Our sights should be set on life goals; and every action planned to knock down the goals one by one like pins in a bowling alley. We must remember that the chief difference between an unsuccessful and a successful person is not one of knowing, but of doing.

Take Time To Meditate
To many people these days are living too much on nerve alone. To be sure, quantity of production comes from working energetically; but quality of life comes from exposure of the soul to great ideas, ennobling thoughts, enriching personalities and inspiring meditation.

My automobile battery is of considerable help to me in turning the starter and lighting the lights on my car. But it will not give power for long unless it is connected with the generator. Too many of us are connected only with the starter. In missing exposure to prayer, music and meditation, we are missing the very thing that will build strength to make the rush of life impossible.

Real success in life will depend much on how we feel inside about what we are doing. I've discovered that to feel right one must know that his labors are making not only himself but others healthier, happier and more prosperous.

Ben Franklin Club Gives Four Plays For Pupils Thursday

Dramatics club members of Ben Franklin junior high school entertained the rest of the students with three skits and a mystery play in the school auditorium Thursday afternoon.

Those taking part, under the direction of Mrs. William Y. Gibson, were Julie Abdo and Mary Hayden in "Suicide in the Office," Mary Cicarelli and Louie Porconi in "Mobile Grocer" and Phyllis Allier and Robert Palladino in "Love Nest."

In the mystery play "The Grill," directed by dramatic student William Druschel, the characters were played by Leroy Juliano as District Attorney, Joanna Abraham as Mrs. District Attorney, Anna Crouch as the maid and Donald DeGennaro as the commissioner of police.

Baltimore Girl, Four, Loses Leg By Amputation

Young Girl Mauled And Bitten By Bear, May Lose Her Life, Doctors Fear

BALTIMORE, Md., Jan. 31.—(NS)—Four-year-old Anna Louise Hastings, unaware her left leg has been amputated just below the knee, pleaded with the nurses at the University hospital today to "please let me get up and play."

The bright-eyed little girl who was mauled and bitten by a bear at nearby Pikeville, told her nurses that "I don't want to stay in bed any more."

But it will be many a day before her plea is answered, if ever.

Physicians say the child's life still will be endangered for another two days until they know if she is safe from possible infection.

Then if she survives, little Anna must face another amputation. Her leg above the knee must be removed.

Anna was bitten by the seven-year-old bear, a pet, when she fell near the animal's cage.

She has received half a dozen or more transfusions and can be seen only by her doctors and nurses.

Around Hollywood

By JOHN TODD

International News Service Staff Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 31.—(INS)—June in January has come and gone in Hollywood, but Victor Mature still is slightly burned up. The beautiful bulk of man can't see why the censorship office killed nine of a set of 12 photographs showing him in a love scene with Pezzy Cummins. They were taken to be used for advertising for their new 20th Century-Fox picture, "Moss Rose".

"Do you see anything wrong with them?" Vic asked.

The fact is, Vic did look a little ardent and while a kiss on the neck is permissible in every day life, it is strictly taboo with screen censors.

Your reporter interrupted Linda Darnell, as talented as she is gorgeous, sketching the figure of a very Svelte girl. The figure was very beautiful and very nude, except for a floppy hat.

"Very beautiful piece of work," your reporter remarked.

"Do you really think so?" Linda asked.

"Yes," your reporter repeated, "besides that, it's a figure which would certainly appeal to Earl Wilson."

Marjorie Main is just back from a vacation tour of Death Valley and raving to tell of her one big adventure.

"I was driving along a lonely road and suddenly the motor stopped," she said. "I couldn't get it going so I had to walk for miles to get help." Marjorie couldn't guess just how many miles.

Now that she's just about finished "Deep Valley" for Warners, Ida Lupino is ready to take a two months vacation.

Ida's going down to a quiet spot in the desert near Indio, about 25 miles from Palm Springs, main resort center for Hollywood notables.

It's not going to be all vacation. Ida is working on a book of short stories.

Gordon Clark, who started his screen career ten years ago as stand-in for Douglas Fairbanks, Jr., has done all right for himself in two careers since he got out of the army a year ago. He's just starting his seventh acting chore in "Bells of San Fernando", with his salary steadily rising. And he's turned to song-writing. He has two which he thinks may become hits.

KILLED BY AUTO

LEWISBURG, Jan. 31.—(INS)—Arthur Malick, 46, of Mifflinburg, R. D. was killed instantly when struck by an automobile near Lewisburg.

He sustained a fractured skull and broken neck when hit by the right fender of a vehicle driven by William L. Ulrich, 33, of Middleburg. Ulrich reportedly was blinded by lights of an oncoming car and failed to see the pedestrian.

New Castle High Battles At Ellwood City In Section Tilt

Both Quintets Tied For Sixth Place In League

Wolverines Hope To Stop "Whiz Kids" At Tube City; Won Twice In 1945-46

New Castle and Ellwood City, both reposing in a deadlock for sixth place in Section III, will try to settle the issue tonight when they battle at the Tube City floor in a resumption of W. P. I. A. L. play. Besides trying to avert the yawning chasm of the cellar which beckons both squads the two schoolboy outfits will go "all out" tonight because this is one game they need no pep talk for. The old rivalry between the two class "A" representatives in the county is one steeped in tradition and bitter reminiscences of things past.

Hurricane Has Edge
For many seasons a New Castle win over their county rivals was an "in the bag" affair. Until four years ago the Red and Black had walked off the floor victorious in 22 out of 24 contests. But during the past few seasons things have not been so rosy for the locals.

In the next four games the "Cubes" gained a split, and the roof fell in on the county-seekers with the Wolverines took both tilts in 1945-46, the first time they had ever swept the season. The score here was 34-33 and 33-26 at the Tube City.

Wolves Dangerous
Like Bill Douglas, Coach "Ted" Wallace, a New Castle High alumnus, is building for the future. His team owns but one win in the section, over the last-place Beaver Falls Tigers, but they have shown flashes of brilliance and in no way can be rated a set-up. Their season record stands at eight triumphs in 14 starts.

Inexperience has hobbled the "Wolves", with green men at many posts. Chief threats have been the O'Hara brothers, Eddie and Don, the former a deadly shot and time floor man.

"Kids" Overdue
Like Wallace, against whom he will match wits for the first time, Douglas is going through the not-so-pleasant pains of his first year here. His team has captured seven out of 13 games and own by one win in the section, an upset of Ambridge in the opener. Successive losses to Beaver Falls, Aliquippa, Sharon and Farrell set the Hurricane stock tumbling and eliminated them from the race.

Deploping a lack of "stretch" on his squad, Douglas has nevertheless done a fine job with the available material. The ex-Greensburg mentor stepped into a loop that is riding the crest, with four teams boasting tall senior-dominated arrays that are at their playing peak.

Lineup Unchanged
The same team that humbled the Arnold Tuesday night will be on the firing line against the Wolverines. Don Black and Wayne Gray will share the forwards, "Chuck" Rea, center. Don Waters and either "Red" Richards or Al Marcoulli at the guards.

The squad will leave from the Y. M. C. A. building at 5:30 p. m. A preliminary between the junior varsities of both schools is carded at 7 o'clock.

Last Night's Fights

At Pittsburgh: Bolton Ford, 138, Homestead, defeated Irish Jimmy Sanders, 141, Warren, O., (10); Arbie Bowie, 135, Aliquippa, defeated Jackie Eisenberger, 132, Pittsburgh, (6); Ben Skelton, 166, Pittsburgh, defeated Red Binyard, 169, Wheeling, W. Va., (1); Joey Sharpe, 134, Pittsburgh, defeated Jackie Watkins, 133, Homestead, (1); and Bobby Lyons, 148, Pittsburgh, defeated Bobby Neal, 147, Beaver Falls, (3).

Turtle Creek Here Saturday Night For Game

American Legion Quintet Will Entertain Valley Team In Return Game Here

Turtle Creek's fast young American Legion team will come here Saturday evening for a return game with the Perry S. Gaston Post American Legion team on the George Washington floor, in a game which will prove fast and furious. The New Castle team defeated Turtle Creek on Monday evening on the Turtle Creek floor, but the Turtle Creek team was missing two of their best players, and the locals were extended to win the game, 64-52.

The Turtle Creek squad is managed by Allard Davis, former local man, who is located in Turtle Creek with the Bell Telephone company, and he has a squad of fast young players, who are crack shots.

There will be a last preliminary with the Sacred Hearts meeting a good team, starting at 7:15 p. m.

Aliquippa Tops Ambridge, 36-31

Aliquippa High's Indians staked their claim as a serious contender for the Section III case crown last night as they took the measure of their deadly rival, Ambridge, 36-31 at the "Bridgers" floor. The game was moved ahead one day, originally slated for tonight.

Sudar, "Quip" center, was the big gun, hitting the nets for 15 points. Ray Stenick got eight for Ambridge. The Victory gave the Indians a five and one record for the season and puts the Sharon Tigers on the spot in their game with Farrell tonight. A Farrell win would bring the "Guips" even with the league-leading Bengals.

Mead And Green To Fight Tonight

NEW YORK, Jan. 31.—(INS)—Pete Mead, an ex-GI from Grand Rapids, Mich., gets his big chance at Madison Square Garden tonight. Mead, who has impressed New York critics, meets Harold Green, seasoned Brooklyn middleweight, in the feature ten-round bout.

Green will be making his first Garden appearance since September 28, 1945, when he lost to Rocky Graziano, who is grabbing the headlines these days in more ways than one.

Legion All-Star Team Is Picked

Aggregation Composed Of Stars Of County League Will Play Leading Teams

CAREY, KURSEL ARE CO-CAPTAINS

At a meeting held in the Legion Home here this week, an All-Star American Legion team was picked from the five teams in the Lawrence County league, who will get together in the near future to play exhibition games with some of the outstanding teams of the county.

Tom Carey, ace guard of the Perry S. Gaston Post team, was chosen captain of the squad, while Willie Kursel, of Bessemer, was named co-captain.

The players were elected by representatives of the five different teams and were chosen because of their sportsmanship, personal ability, and teamwork. Carey, former New Castle High and Slippery Rock State Teachers college, was picked as the outstanding player of the league and chosen for captain, with Kursel, running him close second. Both fit into team play nicely, are good floor men, and at their best when the going is tough.

The New Castle Legion five placed two men on the first team, three on the second team, and one on the third team from their classy outfit, which has not lost a game in county league play.

On the first team are Vince Kelly of New Castle and Tammara of Ellwood City at forward, with Kenny Cathcart of New Wilmington at center and Tom Carey of New Castle and Wilbur Kursel at guard.

Players chosen for the second team are: Harold Marshall of Wampum, Joe Cooper of New Castle at forward; John Zukowski of New Castle, center, and Bas Strausbaugh of New Castle, and Bill Peltz of Bessemer, guards.

On the third squad are: Sam Janacone of New Castle and Dick Green of New Wilmington at forward; Paul Johnson of Bessemer, center, and George Johnson of Wampum and Rogers of Ellwood City at guards.

These fifteen players, it is believed, could hold their own with any of the college squads or professional and independent teams of the county, and followers of the floor game will likely see them in action very soon.

Rocky Graziano On 'Spot' Today

Will Demand That Graziano Name Man Who Offered Him Bribe Of $100,000

By DAVIS J. WALSH

(International News Service Staff Writer)
NEW YORK, Jan. 31.—They have a large, globular spot marked off in the fashionable Zebra or target design down at the boxing commission today for Rocky Graziano, who virtuously spurned the villain's gold—after the third episode.

He apparently spent the first two mentally hefting the $100,000 swag before deciding that, after all, there was very little to be said against recidivism. This anyhow seemed the purport of the young man's recent statement to the district attorney in a sort of preliminary to today's main event in which he will be called into open court and given the grim alternative invariably accorded the condemned man.

Graziano Must Talk
Speak now or henceforth hold his peace—always, of course, presuming that Rocky Graziano has something to say. Failure to be adequately confiding was expected to result in the fight being ruled off for life.

Specifically, the ring's No. 2 box office draw will be asked to put a name to the man who is said to have offered him 100G's worth of persuasion to "throw" a scheduled fight with Cowboy Ruben Shank at Madison Square Garden. Rocky suffered a lapse of memory on this point while talking to the district attorney, but his posture at the time was officially unspotted. Thereas, today's two-man tribunal of Chairman Eddie Egan and Dr. Clinton Powell was understood to feel it could afford to extend executive clemency to the witness in the event of his "co-operation."

Faces Blacklist
Otherwise, it was virtually ordained that blacklisting in New York and affiliated states will be decreed the first time in history for a fighter of Graziano's stature and notoriety. This drastic step was in line with seemingly well-founded reports that definite action has been demanded from Albany where Gov. Thomas E. Dewey was said to have become wearied with New York city's mounting assortment of noisome scandals in professional sports.

District Church Battles Thursday

Moravia Plays Doubleheader, Lose One, Then Win; Westfield Wins

Moravia Presbyterians played two games on the Mt. Jackson high school floor last night in the Mt. Jackson District Church League, dropping one and winning one. The first, a league game with Bessemer Presbyterians was taken by the church boys from the Cement City, 38-29. McConnell scored 12 points for Moravia while Len Galanski was high for Bessemer with 20 points.

In the other league game, Westfield Presbyterians scooped Bethel U. P. 29 to 10 with Moore scoring 4 of Bethel's points for high man and Clark tops for Westfield with 14 points. The next games in the league will be played on the Mt. Jackson high school floor February 4.

West Penn-Ohio Golf Loop Will Operate Again

Dr. Frank Bellino, Youngstown Named President; Castle Hills In League

Members of the West Penn-Ohio golf league met at the "Y" in Youngstown last night and made plans for the 1947 league season with five teams again entering. Dr. Frank Bellino, of Youngstown has been made president for the 1947 loop.

Other officers will be:—George Sawhill, of Sharon, as vice-president and treasurer and Larry Carley of Youngstown, as secretary. Bellino replaces C. P. "Bugs" Walther as president and Carley replaces Jimmy Ludwig as secretary, both of the New Castle men resigning their posts.

Palmer On Board
An executive board has been named as follows:—Fred Palmer of New Castle, George Bebie of Sharon and George Timko of Warren. These men will have charge of the league details.

The five teams rejoining the 1947 league are:—Castle Hills, Sharon Tam O'Shanter, Youngstown, Mahoning, and Warren. This is the second year for the league, the idea going over "big" last year in the first venture of its kind.

Another meeting will take place at the Tam O'Shanter course in West Middlesex on April 16th. The league has decided to score two points medal and match instead of the six-point system used last year.

New Passing Star To Join Steelers

PITTSBURGH, Jan. 31.—(INS)—The Pittsburgh Steelers today announced that Paul J. Davis, a triple-threat halfback from Otterbein, O., college, has signed his 1947 contract with the National Professional Football League Club.

The fleet, 21-year-old halfback told Steeler officials he would finish school in June and report to training camp in August. His expert passing arm is expected to solve the club's aerial attack, the Steelers said.

Pirates Seeking Stars, But Find No Sales Signs

Pittsburgh Would Go To $300,000 To Get Stan Musial, But "No Dice", Cards Say

By JIMMY JORDAN
(International News Service Sports Writer)
PITTSBURGH, Jan. 31.—If good ball players were on the market, the Pittsburgh Pirates soon might take on the hue of the lamented Boston "Gold Sox" of a decade ago.

In fact, the new celebrated "Hank Greenberg case" that split the winter baseball market wide open probably would look somewhat like small potatoes if the Bucs had been able to reach a few other of their recent objectives.

Pirate officials told International News Service today there was hardly a star player in the National League they hadn't tried to purchase outright—and that included Stan Musial of the Cardinals, the National League's most valuable player last season.

Want Good Players
"We'll buy any good player any place we can get him," General Manager H. Roy Hamey said. "The trouble is, the other teams don't want to turn loose their good players."

But just how far they had gone in that direction was not revealed until today.

One well-informed source, whose behind-the-scenes reports concerning the Pirates are unusually reliable, said the club was ready to lay $300,000 on the line for Musial.

Not For Sale
The Pirate management refused to confirm that figure, however, saying merely: "We found out neither he, nor any other Cardinal star was for sale. We didn't get him."

It was admitted that not only Musial, but also Enos Slaughter, George (Whitey) Kurowski, and "a good starting pitcher" also were sought from the world champions. But Sam (Trader Horn) Breadon is not on the selling side of the market these days.

The indications were more than evident that Frank McKinney, Bing Crosby, et al, the new Pirate owners are willing to lay all the necessary cash on the barrel head to build the club into a pennant contender—even as Tom Yawkey tried to do with his gold-plated Boston Red Sox over a decade ago.

No Stars for Sale
Trouble with the Pirates and their attempted pirating of other teams' stars is just this: There's no material for trading around the Forbes Field ball orchard.

Greenberg was obtained in a straight cash deal. If any more established stars wind up in Pirate livery, they'll come via the straight cash deal route. The last conceivable piece of ivory went to the Boston Braves in the deal that brought Billy Herman to Pittsburgh as manager. That was Outfielder-Third Baseman Bob Elliott.

Filchok-Hapes Will Not Be On Giants '47 Team

New York Giants Start Looking For Suitable Replacements For 'Bribery' Stars
By LAWTON CARVER
(International News Service Sports Editor)
NEW YORK, Jan. 31.—Frank Filchok and Merle Hapes definitely will not be back with the New York Giants next season and the National league club reportedly is negotiating with players in the rival All-America conference to plug the gaps.

The player they seek above all others is Bob Hoernschmeyer, former Indiana and Navy star, who did the forward passing for the Chicago Rockets last season and would be utilized to take the place of Filchok in the aerial attack of the Giants.

Seek New Talent
Negotiations were started for replacement for Filchok and Hapes as soon as Paris was found guilty, with the main problem centering around obtaining a forward passer. Filchok handled this chore admirably last season upon coming to the Giants from the Washington Redskins, and Hoernschmeyer has been settled upon as the man to fill the void, if obtainable. He reportedly is dissatisfied with the Rockets and receptive to Giant offers.

May Bring Raids
This may bring on a trend of raiding between the two leagues such as prevailed when the All-America began operations and might even lead to court wrangling on equity involved in hold-over clauses in prior contracts.

However, these apparently are regarded as minor points by a harrassed Giant club which will begin defense of the eastern championship next fall without any man on the club who can throw a football.

Steelers Waiting For Army Decision On Blanchard-Davis

PITTSBURGH, Jan. 31.—(INS)—The Pittsburgh Steelers today adopted a "hands-off" policy in their draft claim on Army Fullback Felix (Doc) Blanchard pending a ruling on his application for a four-month leave to play professional football next fall.

The Steelers indicated, however, that they are hopeful of signing both Blanchard and his teammate, Halfback Glenn Davis, drafted by the Detroit Lions. General Manager John D. Holahan last night stated:

"During the recent National Professional league football meeting in Chicago, Officials of the Steelers negotiated with officials of the Detroit Lions for the services of Halfback Glenn Davis. The Lions in turn tried to work a deal for the services of Blanchard."

"At the time, nothing definite was decided. Insofar as the Steelers are concerned, they are still very much interested in both players for next season. Meanwhile, we will await and abide by the decision of the war department in the matter."

Young star athletes may participate in one of the annual bowl games and get no pay—merely glory—whereas each participating college will draw down as much as 100 thousand dollars.

Bob Higgins, veteran Penn State football coach and a one-time grappler, follows the wrestling game closely.

Boxing comes in for a regular black eye when strange decisions are given or when purely conditioned fighters are suspended for not giving their best, or when curious odds are quoted just before the fight.

Bill Amos, former Grove City college grid coach, has severed his coaching connections with Washington High, but will continue on the faculty. Amos has turned out some fine Washington High grid teams in recent years.

STOCK MARKET TREND UPWARD

NEW YORK, Jan. 31.—(INS)—

The stock market resumed its advance today as steels, motors and other heavy industries paced a rally of fractions to 2 points.

Strong tendencies developed in the second hour of moderate trading. The opening had been irregular and quiet.

Best individual gainer was Chrysler which forged ahead by 2 points near noon. General Motors wiped out an opening loss and substituted a small gain. In Steels gains exceeded a point. Chemicals followed with similar advances.

Other sections of the list narrowed around noon in more active trading.

Bonds drew about even after a sluggish start and curb shares were firm. Cotton advanced.
